5-Year-Old Holstein Supreme Of All-American Dairy Show

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A 5-year-old Holstein cow owned by Pamtom Farm, of Hudson Falls, N.Y., was named supreme champion of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show Thursday afternoon at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

C Taraley Astro Sherry, owned by Herb and June Kerr, of Pamtom Farm, after having just won the grand championship of the Eastern National Holstein Show within the hour, was judged to be the best of the best of the six recognized dairy breed shows at this year's PAADS.

The supreme championship was developed several years ago in order to boost excitement and provide an added dimension to the week-long dairy show. In previous years, judges for supreme were actual show judges. This year judges were representatives from breed organizations which help sponsor the show.

In past years, the use of spotlights and organ music as the grand champions of the All-American dairy shows entered the Large Arena of the state Farm Show Complex provided extra drama to the selection of supreme champion.

This year, the event began immediately after the group classes of the Eastern National Holstein Show and the Mid-Atlantic Regional Dairy Show, without special fanfare.

Sherry is no stranger to the show ring. Last year she was first at the World Dairy Expo, in Madison, Wis., in the 4-year-old age class, and she was an All-American 4-year-old, as well as an All-Canada 4-year-old.

A daughter of Bridon Astro Jet-ET, she has classified as an Excellent-94 and has made 65,000 pounds of milk lifetime. Her latest lactation record, started at 4-years, 9-months of age, shows production of 29,209 pounds milk, 1,024 pounds fat, and 895 pounds protein in 305 days.

Gary Culbertson, of Mansion Valley Holsteins, Hilbert, N.Y., was leadsman.

Runnerup supreme champion was a 6-year-old Brown Swiss, Long View Jades Raisin, owned by Lee Chaney, of GS Associates, Maryland. At the halter in the ring was Becky Long.

Grand champion of the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show, held Wednesday, Raisin also classified Excellent, and while her last lacta-

Hans Herr FFA, New York 4-H Teams Top Dairy Management Contest

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — One of the most educational events at the All-American this week was the junior dairy management contest. Youth from New York, Maryland, and Pennsylvania competed in classes that help show their knowledge of the dairy industry and farming in general.

The contest involved seven classes, including heifer judging, trait evaluation, meat cut identification, grain/forage identification, dairy agronomic practices, current issues in the dairy industry, and a milk marketing quiz. After all the classes were judged, the top five individuals were given the opportunity to give answers to questions from a panel of three judges. The subjects ranged from environmental issues to how they would manage a 2,000 dairy herd.

David Thorton, Boohvill, New York, was the high individual with 335 points out of a possible 350. Bryan Wilson, Dansville, New York, was second with 323 points.

Kathy Habecker, Palmyra, was third with 314 points; Scott Wormer, Middleburg, was first FFA and fourth overall with 296 points, and Matt Younger, Arcade, New York was fifth with 290 points.

The New York State team of Jenny Kelsey, Matt Younger, and David Thorton was the first place 4-H team. They had a total of 698 points.

Thirty-three contestants compete for the state crown at the 39th annual coronation held in Harrisburg last Saturday. Crowned Pennsylvania dairy princess, Rhonda Joy Kieklak from Erie County promises to encourage Pennsylvanians to appreciate farmers more. Hundreds Gather For Two-Day Northeast Poultry Show

Producers May Have To Rely On Their Own Quality Assurance Programs

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Because of ongoing federal agricultural program cutbacks, the poultry industry is "on its own" regarding indemnity programs if there are potential disease outbreaks in the future, according to a USDA veterinary services administrator.

Dr. Donald Luchsinger, deputy administrator for veterinary services for the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), said that the move on Capitol Hill to reduce the budget has led to cutbacks and in many cases elimination of indemnity programs for the poultry industry. As a result, producers may have to join together to establish their own quality assurance programs, such as the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation's egg quality assurance program, to provide protection and help in case of disease outbreaks.

Luchsinger spoke to about 200 poultry producers and agri-industry representatives Wednesday morning at the Northeast Poultry Show at the Host Convention Center in Lancaster. The show ran from Wednesday through Thursday.

In the future, the federal government will work in tandem with industry-sponsored disease outbreak and control programs, according to Luchsinger. No longer will the government simply have money available by the truckload when a disease catastrophe, such as affected Pennsylvania in 1983 and 1986 with avian influenza, occurs.

"You folks in the industry will have a lot to say about how (a program) is done, where it's done, and who with," he said.

This "equal partners" attitude at USDA will extend throughout a lot of programs that the federal government used to provide to producers regularly.

The current push to "reinvent" the government, Luchsinger told the producers, will extend to further downsizing efforts. Already, the USDA has been reduced from 42 agencies to 29, and the 1,120 county offices have been restructured and reorganized.

This reform is part of the six "influences" that Luchsinger said the USDA/APHIS program faces. Others are the long-term budget deficit program ("You know we're going to have fewer resources," he said), the productivity deficit (how to do more and better work with less employees in the same positions in government), globalization of ag (ag exports and imports

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA
SEPTEMBER 27, 1995

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was slow to fair and best on 3 pound and smaller sizes. Offerings were fully adequate, particularly on the heavier weights. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were desirable to often heavier than desired. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than truckload asking prices were unchanged at 59 to 70 cents. Trade sentiment was no better than steady. In the parts complex, boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate. Bone-in breasts continued to tighten. Leg items were fully adequate to ample. Wings were readily available for a lackluster buyer interest.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
SEPTEMBER 27, 1995

Wheat and corn bids were higher, supported by continued export optimism and crop concerns. Soybean bids slipped lower, correcting some of Tuesday's advances. Wheat 1 to 2 cents higher. Corn 2 to 9 cents higher. Sorghum 2 to 3 cents higher. Soybeans 1 to 3 cents lower, except Southern Iowa 2 to 6 cents higher. Export demand remains slow for wheat the past couple of days. However, traders remain optimistic with indications that Brazil and Morocco are seeking US wheat. Spillover strength from corn pits offered support to wheat. Corn bids were stronger on good export sales as South Korea has been a big buyer of corn this week and traders are staying optimistic. Corn harvest has begun in northern states but some signs of damage after last week's freeze is showing up in several places, especially for soybeans. Soybean bids fell slightly lower as a corrective move over yesterday's upturn. Upcoming harvest pressure may have put some pressure on bids. Export demand has slowed down and the decline in meal demand was also a factor. Nebraska reported that freeze damage to bean crops is showing up more widespread than expected which will trim yields and limit declines.

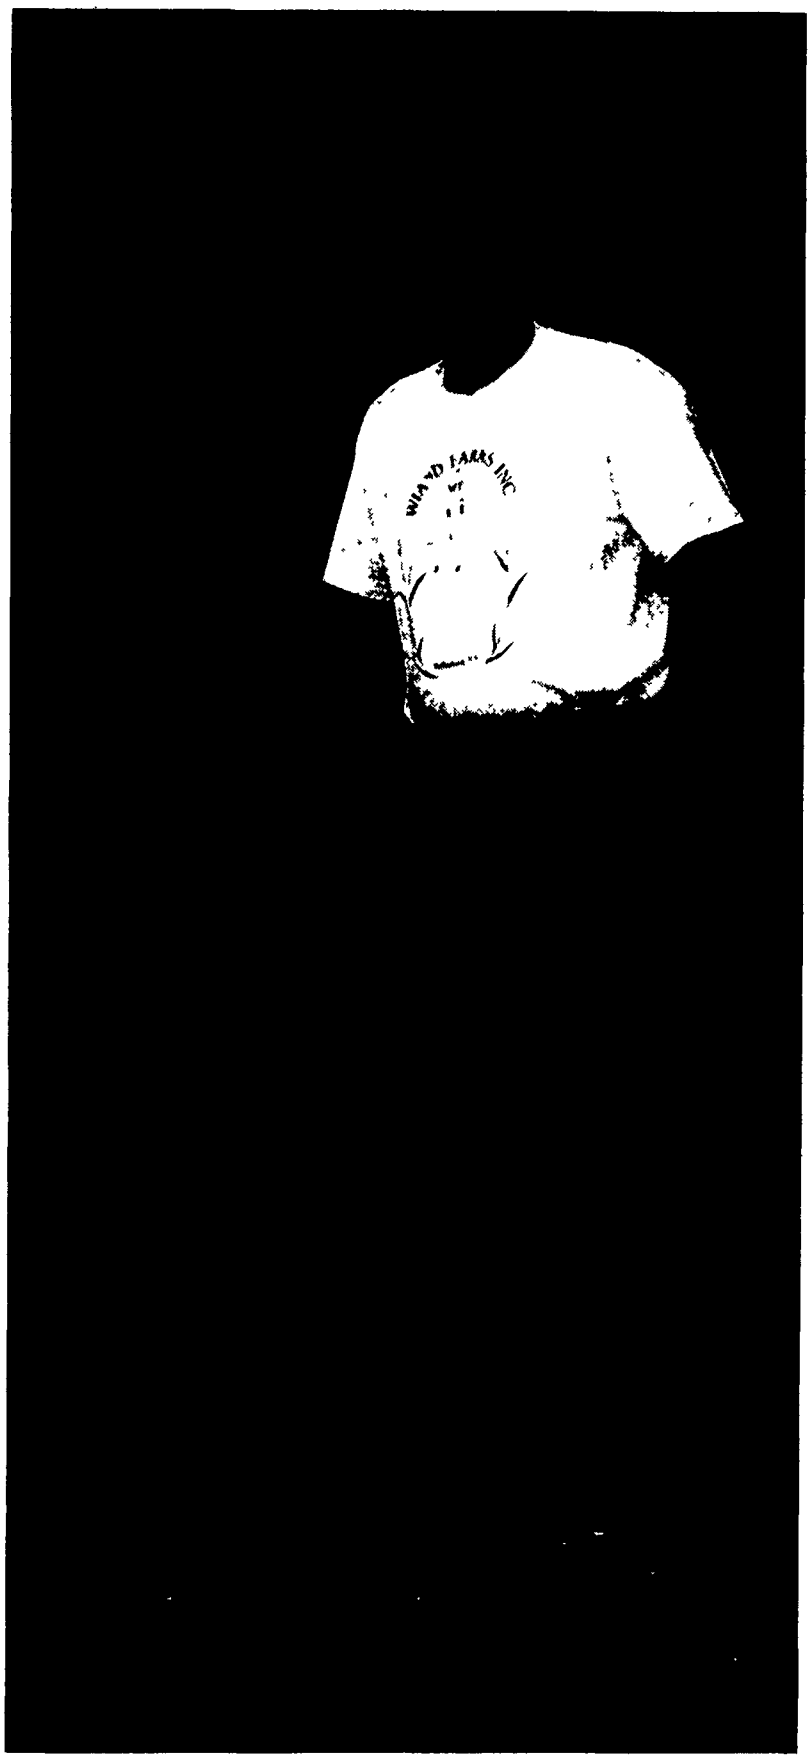
"With Hoffman 89, I got 98 bushels per acre, and great test weights too."

— Glenn Wiand, Mifflinburg, PA



"As a cash-crop producer who farms more than 2,000 acres, I need reliable, dependable seed products. Sure, I'm always trying new things, but when you have a good variety like Hoffman 89, you stick with it."

"Hoffman 89 gives me good yields, and even better test weights, so it's proved to be a moneymaker in our operation. It has good standability and responds well to high managment, with either manure or nitrogen."

Hoffman 89 wins yield tests as well as producing test weights well over 58 lb/bu. In recent Lancaster County trials, it produced a 5% advantage over the mean yield, on top of an additional 5% over mean test weight. At $3.00 per bushel, that dual advantage added up to $15.30 per acre for Hoffman 89.

So take a close look at Hoffman 89. There's no better way to protect your investment in time, labor and resources. Call Hoffman Seeds at 1-800-776-7929, and let us show you how to make the most of your wheat crop this year.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

OCTOBER 2-8, 1995

YOM KIPPUR, OCTOBER 4.

GERM WARFARE

This week begins with Child Health Day, on October 2 (always the first Monday of October), and ends with the Full Hunter's Moon on October 8th. Consider asking your public schools or Parent Teacher Association to wage a little germ warfare to reduce the number of contagious colds. Organize a squad of volunteers to disinfect the desktops and work areas in your child's classroom once or twice a week. Just a quart of water with 1/4 cup of chlorine bleach in it makes a big difference. Students can be encouraged to wash their hands often, with soap, and sneeze or cough into a tissue (or sleeve).

"Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."

— Alexander Pope

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Time now for garden clean-ups to discourage pests. Don't fertilize before cold weather.

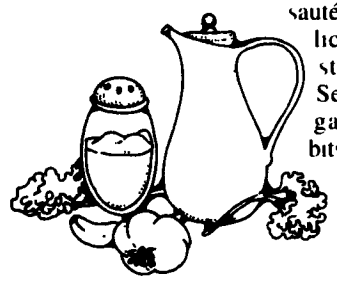
GARLIC KALE

1 pound kale
4 slices bacon
1 large onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
salt and pepper to taste

Boil the washed kale in water to cover for 15 minutes. Drain and keep warm. Fry bacon and chop. Using the bacon fat, sauté the onion and garlic. Add the kale and stir to heat through. Season to taste, then garnish with bacon bits and serve.

Makes 4 servings.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

October always has 21 fair days.

The first and last frosts are the worst.

Three white frosts and next a storm.

Heavy frosts are generally followed by fine clear weather.

Special Offer. Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

The Real Need Of the National Farm Bill

The development of the farm bill in Washington, DC, has taken on a new face this year. Driven by economic factors rather than regional crop interests, cuts in spending on farm programs are likely.

But national farm policy should go beyond the farm bill to bring about reforms that are needed to make farming profitable. Dennis Avery and Dave Juday, writing in the October issue of the Hudson Briefing Paper, say that farmers and others in agriculture are more concerned about the $65 billion in costs that are part of the regulatory and taxing process than they are about the $12 billion in annual crop subsidy payments.

If our Congress really wants to help farmers, they should correct some of the problems.

- A one-time tax exemption from capital gains on the sale of a farm by a farmer over age fifty-five.

Provide 100 percent income-tax deduction for health-care costs.

- Provide regulatory relief for farmers affected by wetlands policies.
- Modernize pesticide regulation.
- Renew America's traditional commitment to ag research.

If Congress removes unfair taxation, eases regulatory burdens and helps fund ag research, they will do more to encourage American agriculture than any other farm bill has done in recent years.

To Feed Soybeans Correctly

Soybeans may be good feed for cows, especially high-producing cows.

Soybeans are high in protein. It is a good quality protein containing a good mixture of the amino acids that cows need.

If the beans are roasted, they are a good source of bypass protein and energy because of their high fat content.

They have the potential to increase milk production, especially in high-producing cows, but they must be fed properly, according to Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent.

The fat in the bean may interfere with fiber digestion in the rumen. Therefore, total fat intake from the ration must be monitored closely.

Because of their fat content, beans may become rancid if they are ground too far in advance of usage. Raw soybeans contain a trypsin inhibiting enzyme, which interferes with the digestion of protein. Another enzyme, urease, causes the release of urea when raw beans are mixed with urea containing feeds.

When beans are roasted, these two enzymes are destroyed and these problems avoided. Because of these problems, it is suggested that raw beans be limited to no more than 10 percent of the ration dry matter.

If roasted, beans may make up 10 to 15 percent of the total ration dry matter. At higher levels, there is a risk of causing off-flavored milk and throwing cows off feed.

To Watch Soluble Protein

When cows are fed appreciable amounts of good quality alfalfa haylage and other ensiled feeds, they could be consuming too much soluble protein. In these cases, it would be desirable to replace soybean oil meal, which is high in soluble protein, with a bypass protein feed such as roasted soybeans.

The need for bypass protein increases as milk production increases. But it should be remembered that even high-producing cows need some soluble protein for good rumen function.

A properly functioning rumen is a valuable source of microbial protein, one of the best and cheapest source of bypass protein that ever existed. The amount of proteins that bypass digestion in the rumen increases when beans are roasted, but decreases with grinding and excessive heating.

So, if you need bypass protein, do not overheat or over- process beans.

— Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent

To Deal With High Nitrate Feeds

If forages are found to contain higher levels of nitrates because of the dry weather, the impact they will have on livestock may be minimized by following a few simple rules.

First, know exactly what the nitrate content of the forage is by testing. Second, feed limited amounts of feeds containing elevated levels of nitrate nitrogen. Third, mix feeds high in nitrate with feeds which are lower in nitrates. Fourth, feed high energy feeds, those with high carbohydrate levels, with vitamin A supplement.

The carbohydrates provide the rumen microflora with energy to convert the nitrates into protein. Fifth, ensiling high nitrate forages for 3 to 4 weeks will reduce nitrates levels by 30 percent.

— Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent

THE RIGHT CREDENTIALS
October 1, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 6:1 through 8:3
Devotional Reading:
Acts 7:54 through 8:3

This may not be the first fuss in a Christian church, but it is the first recorded one: "now in these days when the disciples were increasing in number, the Hellenists murmured against the Hebrews because their widows were neglected in the daily distribution" (6:1).

We've probably all belonged to a church where somebody murmured against someone else for neglect real or imagined. "The young couples of this church are not very well represented on the church administrative board, Pastor!" "Reverend, you must be aware that those of us who have been here for a long time are getting put out to pasture!" Et cetera, et cetera, et cetera.

The first church in Jerusalem was essentially composed of two groups: Greek-speaking Jews (Hellenists) and Aramaic-speaking (Hebrews) followers of Jesus. As the congregation pooled their economic goods and resources and then redistributed them among all the people of the congregation, the intention was to distribute these goods equally. But the Aramaic speaking Jews protested that their widows were not getting their fair share.

SERVE TABLES?

The response of the twelve apostles is a little pompous in my estimation: "It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables" (6:2). Obviously they didn't inherit that attitude from their master, who on one occasion washed the feet of his disciples (John 13:1-12) and on another said: "For which is the greater, one who sits at table, or one who serves? Is it not the one who sits at table? But I am among you as one who serves" (Luke 22:27).

(That reminds me of the Texan who was surprised when his new preacher fell off his horse. He said he figured all preachers were good on horseback, "spending as much time on their high horse as they do!")

The solution to the dilemma was a reasonable one. So that the apostles would not have to supervise the waiting on tables, they appointed seven Hellenists to do just that, commissioning the first deacons in the church. Their job was to look after the needs, not only of the Hellenistic widows, but all the needy of the congregation. (Actually the term "deacon" was not used in Acts, but this passage is often regarded as the beginning of the concept of deaconate. Literally, the Greek word may be translated as "servant," "attendant," or "minister" — one who serves.)

JUST A DEACON

There was nothing wrong with this plan, except that, like most of us, the apostles were a bit arrogant in thinking that by commissioning the seven deacons they had neatly divided the responsibilities into two well-defined divisions: (1) those who preach the gospel, and (2) those who minister to the needy. They had attempted to pour the Spirit of God into a bottle.

It is ironic to me then that, immediately following the account of the special commissioning of the seven Hellenists to take care of the mundane tasks of the congregation and free the apostles for the task of preaching the gospel, the writer of Acts follows with several long passages relating the story of Stephen, the man appointed to serve tables who preaches one of the most important — and dangerous! — sermons recorded in the New Testament! He was only authorized by the apostles to do the work of a deacon — certainly not that of an apostle! — but Stephen was "full of grace and power" and he did "great wonders and signs among the people" (6:8).

Later, the writer of Acts says of his opponents, "But they could not withstand the wisdom and the spirit with which he spoke" (6:9).

Like his master, Stephen did not have the right credentials, but he had the power.

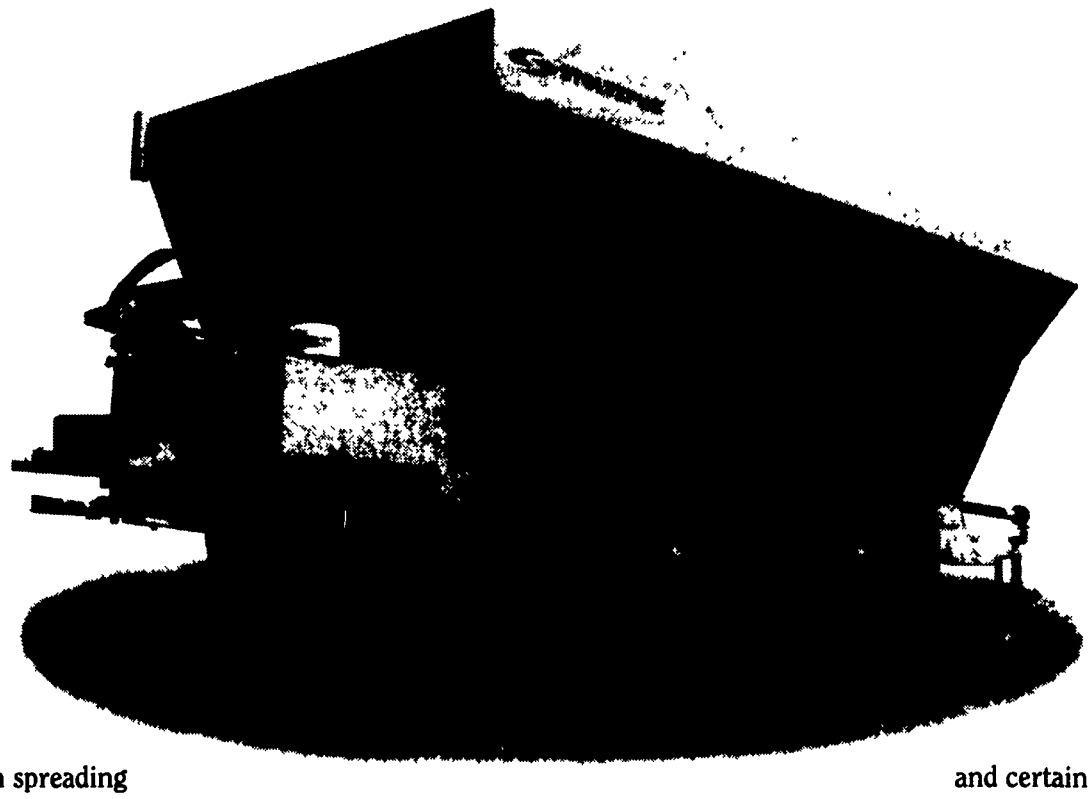
Sometimes You Need A Spreader Built Like A Tank.



When spreading stockpiled lime, for example. The Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreader is likely the most powerful spreader of its kind on the market today. You see, we've been building them since 1945, and farmers are still using Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreaders they've had for 20, even 30 years. Our special drag chain is 4 times stronger than stainless steel, and handles frozen and heavy stockpiled lime with ease. Plus, for spreading compost, composted sludge, poultry litter and certain fertilizers, the WLS is without equal for sheer volume spreading. We call that performance. You'll call it terrific.

We hope you compare a Stoltzfus WLS with other spreaders. It makes us look even better. Price? Sure we may be a little more. But when you end up replacing cheaper units in a few short years, what have you saved? Stoltzfus quality always pays foritself many times over.

Just how tough is a Stoltzfus WLS? Plenty tough. Call today. We'll tell you where to find the dealer nearest you, and send you free literature to inspect.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Out of more than 1,000 entries in the 40th Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, 745 made it to the Large Arena show ring of the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on Monday, making it one of the largest shows.

The Holstein show was certainly one of the largest. Each of the first three junior-age animal classes were split into two classes to keep the number of Holstein calves being judged at one time close to 25.

However, all breed shows were strong, especially coming after a year when bovine virus diarrhea vaccination concerns decreased turnout to almost all cattle shows.

Also this year, within each breed show more emphasis was placed on recognizing the recipients of the awards for best owned-and-bred animals.

This award recognizes the fact that the exhibitor has been involved in a successful cattle breeding and raising program, in addition to the regular responsibilities and skills needed to raise and maintain a show quality animal.

The state junior dairy show culminates a showing season which begins with county, then regional shows. At the first two levels, judges award blue ribbons to indicate those animals judged to be worthy of consideration at the state level.

Judges for the Holstein show were Dr. David Dickson, Madison, Wis., for type, and Dwight Stoltzfus, Morgantown, for showmanship.

Judges for the Ayrshire and Jersey breeds were Richard Keene, Gilbertsville, N.Y., for type, and Michele Ruby, Freeville, N.Y., for showmanship.

Judges for the Milking Shorthorn, Brown Swiss and Guernsey breeds were Wayne Stiles, Westminster, Md., for type, and Susan Beshore, New Cumberland, for showmanship.

Ayrshire

In the Ayrshire show, the senior and grand champion was an aged cow, Eureka Pride Opal, shown by Seth Wolfgang, of Bechtelsville. Almost 8 years old, Opal is a daughter of Mar-Ral Commander's Pride bred by Harold Kulp, of Pottstown.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was junior 3-year-old cow, Hartman AYR Moon river Jeana, shown by Stephen White, of Albion. Jeana is a Covey-Farms Moon River-ET daughter bred by John Hartman of Farmdale, Ohio.

The best bred and owned senior aged animal was Yaple's Racheal Ruby, shown by Gretchen Yaple, of Houtzdale. It placed second in the class of 5-year-old Ayrshires.

The junior champion Ayrshire was also the best bred and owned junior animal, an intermediate yearling, Kemerer-Farm Dixie-Kit Kelley, shown by Christopher Kemerer, of Latrobe. She is a duaghter of Valu-Ayr Dixie' Dividend-ET.

The reserve junior champion was an intermediate calf, Hutters FD Festival Freedom, shown by Brian Katarski, of Mt. Pleasant. She is a Roi Festival daughter bred by Todd Frescura, of Mt. Pleasant.

Milk Urea Nitrogen Testing Is Monitoring Tool

VIRGINIA ISHLER
PSU Dairy, Animal Science

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania DHIA is offering an additional management tool, milk urea nitrogen analysis, which can monitor the ruea concentration in milk.

This is another method to monitor your herd's performance along with other records and pertinent information.

Milk urea nitrogen or MUN measures the efficiency by which nitrogen is utilized by the animal.

Nitrogen is an essential component for rumen microorganisms and the production of microbial protein.

Ammonia (NH^3) results from the microbial degradation of feedstuffs.

The rumen microbes use fermentable carbohydrates to provide energy and organic acids in combination with ammonia to form amino acids and subsequently microbial protein.

When rumen ammonia concentrations exceed the ability of rumen microbes to incorporate ammonia into microbial protein, ammonia is absorbed through the rumen wall, converted to urea by the liver, and high levels are found in blood, serum, or milk.

If ruminal ammonia concentrations are low, this can also be reflected as low MUN's.

When MUN values are too low or too high, then problems may exist in the ration which can impair animal performance, reduce economic efficiency, and affect environmental pollution.

The primary areas in nutrition that affect MUN levels are total crude protein intake, degradable and soluble protein intake, and the amount and type of nonstructural carbohydrates supplied in the ration.

The following areas should be examined closely in a ration program if MUN levels are higher than what is considered normal: * Excess crude protein in the ration * Excess levels of degradable intake protein * Excess levels of soluble intake protein * A combination of any of the first three items * Inadequate nonstructural carbohydrates and excess protein.

Lower than normal levels of MUN's may indicate: * Excess nonstructural carbohydrates and inadequate protein * Deficiency of soluble intake protein * Deficiency of degradable intake protein * Excess level of undegradable intake protein.

These are some areas in nutrition that would need to be evaluated. However, MUN values are not meant to be used as the sole indicator of a possible problem. MUN's are an additional TOOL.

You need to use other information in conjunction with MUN's to evaluate the herd such as records on reproduction and health performance, milk fat and protein levels, and diet composition through analysis of forage, feed, and TMRs.

PA DHIA INTRODUCES . . . .

Milk Urea Nitrogen TESTING ON OCTOBER 1

Economics of MUN Testing

Protein is the most costly ingredient in dairy rations.
Some farms overfeed protein by 10-20%.
Overfeeding protein by 20% would cost producers about $50/cow/year
> 100 cows = $5000/year
Cost of MUN testing is 15¢/cow/month
MUN testing can signal excess protein feeding or energy imbalance. If correct adjustments are made it could significantly improve the efficiency of milk production and conception rate.

Solanco Livestock Sale Prices High

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Officials called the youth livestock sale at the Solanco Fair last Friday evening one of the best in recent history. And the numbers confirm this opinion.

Dr. Richard Albright, DDS, Lancaster, got things rolling in the market sheep sale with a $10 per pound bid on Tiffany Dean's grand champion lamb. The total was $1,270. Then the fun began. Dr. Albright donated the lamb back to be resold with the proceeds going to the travel fund for the Lancaster County 4-H judging team.

Richard Weimer, Quarryville, purchased the lamb the second time for $6.00 per pound or a total of $762 and again donated the lamb to be resold.

Edgefield Dairy Farm, Quarryville, then bought the lamb for $4.50 or a total of $571.50. And the 4-H travel fund had increased by $1,333.50.

Brent Landis had showed the reserve grand champion earlier in the week and at the sale, Weaver's Insurance, Quarryville, paid $4.10 per pound for a total of $475.60 for the 116 pound lamb.

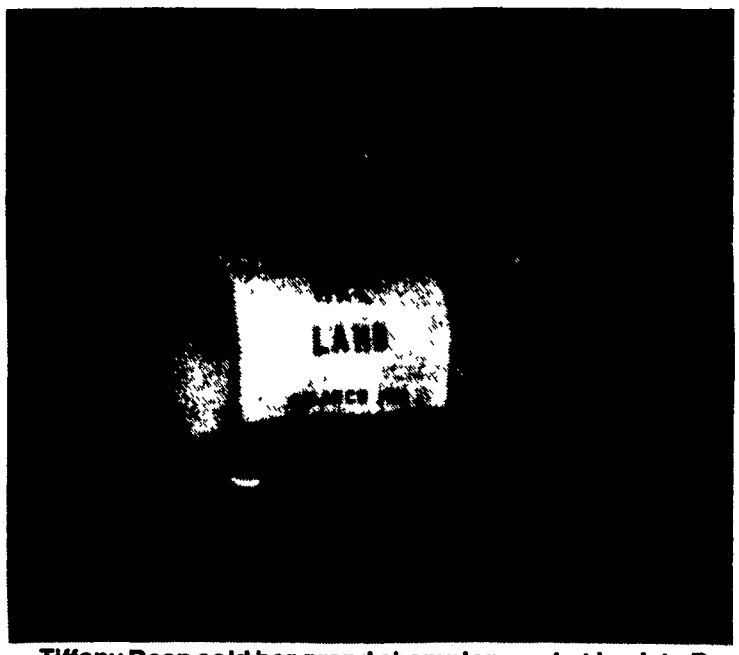
In the steer sale Hope Long's first place heavyweight and grand champion of the show sold to Ferguson and Hassler grocery store, Quarryville, for $4.70 per pound. On the 1263 pound steer that made the total $5,936.10.

The reserve grand champion steer, shown by Bryan Byers, sold to K & S Equipment, Quarryville, for $2.00 per pound or a total of $2,450 on the 1225 pound steer.

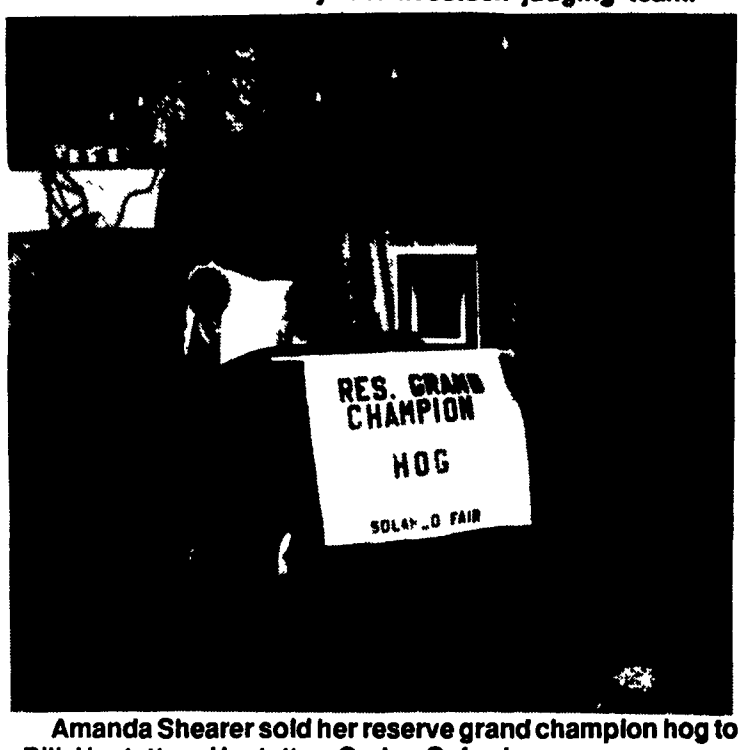
In the hog sale Rusty Herr's grand champion sold to Shady Birch Farm, Inc., Quarryville, for $3.25 per pound or a total of $819 on the 252 pound hog.

The reserve grand champion, shown by Amanda Shearer, sold to Hostetter Grain, Oxford, for $2.25 per pound for a total of $576.

The average price without the champions were: steers, $1.07 sheep, $1.46, and hogs, $1.52 There were 60 hogs, 55 sheep; and 13 steers in the sale.



Tiffany Dean sold her grand champion market lamb to Dr. Richard Albright, Lancaster. The lamb was then resold two additional times with the money donated to the travel fund of the Lancaster County 4-H livestock judging team.



Amanda Shearer sold her reserve grand champion hog to Bill Hostetter, Hostetter Grain, Oxford.

The Lancaster 4-H Livestock Judging Team swept a stunning victory with a 60-point lead in competition at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield Mass. on Sept. 16. The team, which represents Pennsylvania, will compete at three other interstate contests before the National 4-H Judging Contest to be held in Louisville, Ken. The team travel expense fund got a boost from the sale and resale of the grand champion lamb at the Solanco Fair livestock auction. From left are team members and coaches: Fred Weaver, coach; Gerald Boyd; Greg Musser, coach; Lisa Reiff, Dean Livinggood, and Regina Landis.

It Took 10 Years But Tracy Shows Champion At Ephrata

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Perseverance paid off for Tracy Bollinger. After 10 years of showing, she captured the coveted grand champion trophy at the Ephrata Swine Show.

"No one wanted this pig but me," Tracy said with a satisfied smug as her sister Amy and brother Derek looked on. The siblings each chose the pigs they wanted to show for the season after their dad purchased them in Ohio.

Although they had at first snubbed the Hamp-York-Duroc cross, her siblings rejoiced when Tracy took the trophy.

The Bollinger siblings compete with their pigs and sheep in competitions throughout the county. They live in Manheim with parents, Eugene and Carol Bollinger. Eighteen-year-old Tracy is a Manheim Central graduate and now works as a lab technician for Lancaster DHIA.

Virginia "Ginny" Nolt of Reinholds showed the reserve champion hog, a Duroc, which she purchased from her cousin Corey Pfautz.

"I attribute the placing to dedicated walking and good breeding," said the 18-year-old. Virginia graduated last year and works for a farmer's supply store. Her parents are Leverne and Jolynn Nolt. Ginny and her brother Andy raised eight hogs together for the fair.

In showmanship, Cory Pfautz took first-place in the senior division; Kevin Pfautz, intermediate; and Gerald Martin, beginner.

Here is a partial listing of the swine show results.

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — A 5-Year-Old Alpine by the name of Vicki Lynn was selected grand champion of the Reading Fair Goat Show on Monday at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

Exhibitor for the champion was Joan Stump, Stump Hollow Farm, Telford.

Stump said the animal was obtained from Martha Griner, Bordentown, N.J. Stump said genetics are essential when exhibiting a goat for championship, and to enhance the overall quality of the breed.

Stump will be showing this year at the state Farm Show.

In all, there were a total of 10 exhibitors and 76 goats. Show judge was John Pfeiler, Shortsville, N.Y., a Nubian and Alpine goat breeder.

Management Workshop For Youth Set

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — For several years, faculty in the Department of Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State have conducted very successful management workshops for high school students interested in the dairy industry.

In 1994, this program was expanded to include workshops for students interested in beef cattle and swine.

Dairy cattle, sheep and horses will be featured in the 1995 Animal Management Workshop for Youth. The goal of the workshop is to provide interested college-bound high school sophomores, juniors and seniors with the opportunity to study in more depth the current issues facing producers of animals and animal products.

Topics to be addressed in the combined morning session include comparative reproductive anatomy and hoof structure and health. The afternoon sessions will focus on topics specific to each of the three species, including nutritional trials and body condition scoring.

The 1995 Animal Management Workshop for Youth is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 13 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Keith Bryan, Dale Olver, or LuAnn Weatherholtz at (814) 863-3664

Natema Wins Again At State Championship Show

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A powerful and stylish aged cow topped a field of outstanding contenders to take Grand Champion honors at the 1995 Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show, held Tuesday at the state Farm Show complex.

It was the second consecutive win for "Wind-Drift A-J Natema," whose photo graced the cover of the show's catalog in honor of her 1994 champion title. She is owned and exhibited by Campbell, Beatty and Claypool, Campbell-Run Farm, Ford City.

Officiating at the state championship show was John Buckley, whose family has a Holstein herd at Lindsey, Ontario, Canada.

Natema, at seven years old, is scored EX-91. Not only is she a show winner, she excels equally in the milking string. Recently fresh, she finished her last lactation with 36,513 milk, 1178 fat and 1128 protein. The champion is sired by Bridon Astro Jet-ET, from the dam Wind-Drift Valiant Nancy, and was bred by Donald Keller.

Standing with Natema in the winner's circle was her herdmate from Campbell-Run Farms, "Pinehurst Jessica." The reserve champion topped her large four-year-old class and was named All-Pennsylvania four-year-old before the show's end. Earlier in the season, she took champion honors at the Northwest Championship Show.

In her second lactation, Jessica is VG-86 and currently milking over 100 pounds. Sired by Walkway Chief Mark, Pinehurst Farms bred her from the dam is Pinehurst Jetset.

Top heifer honors were shared by a pair of herdmates from Tri-Day Farms, owned by the Curtis and Ann Day family, Shippensburg. Junior champion was the fall calf "Tri-Day Astrid," exhibited by Matthew Day. Reserve junior champion honors went to "Tri-Day Mystique," a spring calf. The pair helped win a first-place award in the junior best three females class for the Day family.

Penn Gate Farms, Steve and Chris Wood, Littlestown, won the cash prize of the day, the Keystone Futurity banner and its accompanying check for $1447.25. Their winning entry was "Penn Gate Markem Angel," also named best uddered over the class of 13 head It was a day for awards in pairs, with Penn Gate also taking second place in the futurity line-up with "Penn Gate Lincoln Dutchess."

Futurity contenders are entered as calves, with 206 entries initially signed up for the 1995 runoff. Three annual payments are made into the futurity fund by those electing to keep their entries in the contest until they compete in the showring as three-year-olds.

Penn Gate further garnered the top points to take still another another pair of big honors for their well-known Holstein herd, the coveted Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor banners. Several years of winning such top awards help earn Steve and Chris Wood the National Holstein Association's outstanding young breeder's title earlier this year.

In second place for premier breeder was Globe Run Farms, the John and Alice Foster family, Petersburg, and third was Gor-Wood D Holsteins, the Gordon Wood family, Mansfield. Second place points in the premier exhibitor competition were scored by Campbell Run Farms, Ford City, with Globe Run Farms in the thrid-place spot.

Winner of the Total Performance Award was the aged dry cow "Whiteleather Conquest 385," exhibited by M. Weimer, F. Strouse and K. Colyer, Solid Gold Holsteins, Emlenton.

"Globe Run Top Gun Oslo" not only won the best bred and owned title in the open class show, but was also named grand champion of the junior division. It capped a winning year for 14-year-old youth member Lory Ann Baker, and the second championship in two days for the EX-92, five-year-old cow. Monday, "Oslo" took grand champion honors in the state junior Holstein show.

Reserve champion of the junior division was won by Tara Kocher, 14, Mifflintown. Her "Ore Farm Vintage Jasmine" was named both best-uddeered and best bred and owned in her junior-two-year-old class.

Junior champion title over the junior division went to "Pack-Herd Encore Bazuka," a fall yearling exhibited by David Packard, Troy. Reserve junior champion of the youth classes was the spring yearling 'Dar-Dale Nittany Pepsi," exhibited by Dixie Doll, Geln Rock.

equal about $53 billion yearly), dealing with the "anti-ag" sector, including animal rightists and environmentalists, and science and technology, with biotechnology having a huge impact on diseases such as salmonella, MS, A.I., and others.

"It will be a different day, and it's going to be a different way" at USDA, said Luchsinger. "But we'll continue to be here and protect animal agriculture and work with you."

Egg Quality Assurance

One of the more successful industry quality assurance programs already in place is the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program (PEQAP), started in February 1994. More than 80 percent of the state's layer flocks are voluntarily enrolled in the program, according to Dr. David Kradel, industry coordinator of the program, implemented by the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

Kradel said that a big part of PEQAP is the ongoing efforts to reduce the presence of salmonella enteritidis (SE) in flocks. PEQAP uses a hazards analysis critical control point (HACCP) philosophy that checks every level of production to ensure flocks are disease-free.

A large part of the PEQAP efforts are rodent control and complete disinfecting of houses between flocks.

Kradel was on hand at the PEQAP booth during the trade show portion of the Northeast Poultry Show.

A.I. Threat

Also at the show, Dr. Charles Beard, vice president of research and technology at the Southeastern Poultry and Egg Association, spoke about the ongoing potential threat that avian influenza (A.I.) poses to North American flocks.

What is particularly worrisome is the fact that several states in Mexico have millions of layers and broilers heavily infected with the highly pathological strain of A.I. Twenty Mexican states have shown serological evidence of A.I., 11 states have isolated the A.I. virus, and two states have the highly pathogenic A.I. Three states that border Texas, including Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, and Coqhuila, have serological evidence of A.I.

One of the states, Tamaulipas, has "depopulated" seven seropositive flocks. But their version of "depopulation" simply means the birds were marketed on the many open live bird sales in Mexico City, said Beard.

Many in Mexico who purchase the birds aren't aware of the disease symptoms until too late. They include an evidence of "no singing" or complete silence of the birds in houses, said Beard. The birds are "very, very depressed," he said, "with a swollen face, blue coloration to the cane, with severe egg production drops for layers." Beard said the disease is very disastrous and "kills birds overnight." A.I. also wreaks havoc on broilers and turkeys.

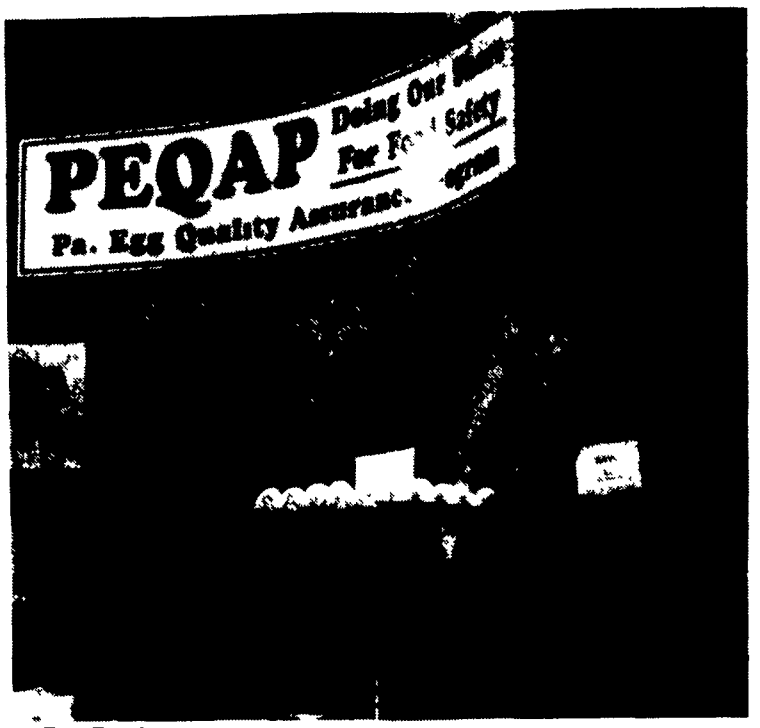
What makes Mexico so unique is that Mexico City itself, with a huge open market of live birds, is surrounded by many large poultry operations with thousands of infected birds. Waterfowl spread the disease throughout the region, much as what happened in Pennsylvania in 1983, when investigators found out that migratory waterfowl and open bird markets contributed to the outbreak.

Mexican states such as Queretaro, Jalisco, and Puebla have many examples of 10,000 or more birds infected with A.I. Problem is, in Mexico, there is little incentive to rid the flocks of A.I. since most producers in the country simply let birds die.

And Mexican officials claim that many flocks, which should be labeled as highly contagious, are not because in the laboratory, six out of eight birds must die. One flock lab test showed four out of eight birds dying, so it wasn't declared by the Mexican government as highly pathogenic.

Right now, "Everyone agrees that a vaccine will not rid Mexico's industry of A.I.," said Beard. The difficulty is often that the virus which causes A.I. can remain mild and not pose a problem — and then suddenly turn "hot" and become deadly, almost overnight.

Luckily, for U.S. poultry producers, new vaccines and vaccine technologies will provide a way to successfully control A.I. through "engineered" viruses in cell culture and recombinant technology. When these vaccines become licensed in the near future, it is possible that producers in the U.S. could see nearly 100 percent protection from the disease.



Dr. David Kradel spoke about the successful PEQAP program during the Northeast Poultry Show.

Producers, meanwhile, should carefully inspect their production programs and ensure that proper biosecurity is in place. "In general, the industry is not really concerned that biosecurity is a necessary part of doing business," said Beard.

Also, live bird markets continue to pose a problem, as do migratory waterfowl. It is important that producers be prepared by joining together with a quality assurance program, to continue serological surveillance, to have a plan of action on the shelf, and check on the availability of a vaccine.

Whether there could be another outbreak such as happened in Pennsylvania in 1983, Beard said, "It's a possibility this can happen, and it is an industry decision as to whether it does or does not."

Egg Outlook

The second half of 1996 will be a challenging time for all of the egg industry, said Dr. Milt Madison, ag economist in the animal products branch of the USDA Economic Research Service.

Madison told about 125 poultry producers that because of a projected 10 percent rise in corn and soybean feed prices next year, producers could be facing a price that is 5 to 10 cents per dozen lower than 1995 prices in the second half of next year.

As a result, producers should look toward developing more export markets for shell eggs and continue to expand the domestic and overseas markets for further processed eggs.

While the first and second quarters may prove stronger for eggs than 1995, the feed costs will continue to rise and continue to threaten profitability.

Pennsylvania ranks third in overall production of eggs, behind Ohio, second, and California, first. Indiana, fourth and Georgia, fifth are continuing to see increases and could overtake Pennsylvania in overall production as new houses are constructed.

California leads the nation in egg production, producing 9 percent of the total, at 9 billion eggs. Pennsylvania produces about 5.5 billion eggs annually.

Projections for breaking and further processing in 1996 are about 1,600 million dozen eggs. Per person consumption of eggs in 1996 will be 250 per year, of which 60 per person are egg products. Twenty-eight percent of egg production in 1995 went to egg breakers.

Exports for eggs for 1995-1996 stand about about 200 million dozen, about 3 percent of the total eggs produced. Total exports of eggs are valued at $150 million in 1994. In Jan.-July, 1995, total exports were valued at $87 million, with Japan the leading market, followed by Canada and Mexico.

Joleen Herbert Shows Champion Market Lamb At Ephrata

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Joleen Herbert had "a feeling that just maybe" she would capture the grand champion market lamb title at the Ephrata Fair on Wednesday night.

She wasn't disappointed. After three years of showing, the Penn State Berks Campus freshman was elated to claim her first grand champion title.

"All that exercising paid off," Joleen said of taking the time to commute from her Terre Hill home to a New Holland farm to run her three sheep through hurdles daily.

The grand champion is the same sheep that took reserve market lamb honors at the Denver Fair two weeks ago. Named Scottie, the heavyweight champion, was purchased from Lloyd Reiff of Strasburg.

Judge Tim Fleener, a Hampshire and Southdown breeder from Lebanon County, said that the 122-pound heavyweight is tight, neat, showy, and the biggest frame, longest lamb at the show.

The reserve champion market lamb shown by Radell Peters was also a formidable heavyweight with just the right amount of conditioning and good overall packaging according to Fleener.

Radell, son of Raymond and Rebecca Peters from Middletown, was extremely proud that his 131-pound heavyweight was a homebred lamb that he raised from a "baby."

In the breeding sheep competition, grand champion honors over all breeds went to a Southdown ewe owned by Jay Zimmerman.

The 15-year-old said that he was equally happy to win the trophy as he was to top his sister 13-year-old Jennifer in the competition.

"I always knew that I would beat her sometime," he said of the sibling rivalry in the show ring.

The champion Southdown named Blueberry was purchased in Ohio. Jay and his sister, who live with parents Jay and JoAnn in Akron, traveled in a pickup truck with their aunt to the Ohio sale where they picked up seven sheep.

"I picked out three of my own without any help," Jay said of the grand champion breeding sheep. "I knew that one of these times, she would win."

It was nip and tuck between Jay's Southdown and Jessica Stoltzfus's grand champion Dorset ewe. In fact, the two competitors alternated wins in the overall breed competition with Jessica taking champion ram honors, and Jay, the reserve. Then Jay took champion ewe with Jessica taking the reserve. In the end it was the ewes that topped the all breeds.

Judge Fleener said, "It's difficult to judge a ram and ewe against each other because they are both different and are supposed to be different."

Jessica's Dorset is a one-year-old named Brittany, which she purchased. Jessica, 15-year-old daughter of Frank and Irene Stoltzfus, raises about 20 ewes on their Elizabethtown farm.

Also competing for the title were Amy Haines with the Columbia breed champion; Keith Bollinger with the Cheviot champion; Alex Lauffer with the Romney champion; Amy Bollinger with the Shropshire champion; and Jeff Bollinger with the Suffolk champion.

In showmanship competition, two Ephrata brothers weilded their sheep with ease and style. Sixteen-year-old Keith Bollinger was named grand champion showman with his 19-year-old brother Jerry taking the reserve title. The brothers, sons of Raymond and Sharon Bollinger, have about 25 sheep together and both competed in the senior exhibitor class.

In the intermediate class, Jennifer Zimmerman placed first. Josh Hoover, son of Marty and Lois Hoover of Denver, took first in the beginner division.

MILK. AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK®

HERD HEALTH

When I think of herd health, I really think of preventative medicine. An ounce of prevention isn't really worth a pound of cure. I think it's really worth 10 pounds of cure. In particular, when I think of preventative medicine, I think mostly of the dry and prefresh cows.

Our experience has been that if we spend a little extra time with the dry and prefresh cows to make sure that their ration is balanced and that they actually get what is on the paper from the feed man, we don't have nearly as many retained placentas, milk fevers, cows off feed, and twisted stomachs. Usually if the cows are going to get sick, it happens about the time they freshen. This really hurts the pocketbook.

Over the years we occasionally have slipped up a bit, and we always end up with problems. About four years ago, we decided it would be easier to feed the trough sweepings from the milking cows to the prefresh cows rather than hauling it out to the heifers. Guess what happened—milk fever, retained placentas, etc. Cows didn't milk well after calving. So after our vet pointed it out to us, we decided it wasn't that much harder to haul it out to the heifers.

We should have learned our lesson, but about two years ago, we moved our heifers to a barn about a half mile away from the milking herd. We decided that maybe it wouldn't hurt to feed a little bit of trough sweepings to the prefresh group and put the rest out in the bunk feeder for some late lactation cows.

After a couple of months, it was easier to give the prefresh cows more trough sweepings and take less out to the bunk feeder, plus we were busy in the fields, which is when things like that tend to happen. It is bad enough to learn a lesson the hard way once, but we did it twice! Finally we built a cart big enough to get all the trough sweepings on one load, but small enough to push around the cow stable. Then we hook a mule into it and haul it to the heifers.

Now that the trough sweepings were being taken care of, and we were trying hard to make sure the prefresh cows get what they are supposed to, cows were coming fresh and doing quite well with almost no health problems. Therefore, the cows were eating better and peaking higher. Even though I don't understand how it works, I know it is very important to balance the ration for the dry and prefresh cows. If they don't get started right, we have to wait another year to get top milk production.

Besides balancing the ration, we make sure dry and prefresh cows get free choice grass hay along with the rest of their ration and never have an empty trough. When they calve at night and want to eat later, we want to have something there for them to eat. When I'm working hard, I sure don't like to go 6-8 hours without something to eat or drink.

Although we don't do much grazing with the milking herd, we do split the pasture up into permanent paddocks, including one for the prefresh cows. It allows us to have a good place for them to calve and not be confined to the maternity pen on nice spring and fall days. Having a "hospital clean" and dry calving area is another important way to prevent health problems at calving time.

With grazing we have another challenge. This summer one night the cows broke through the fence and got into some lush pasture. One cow bloated and then calved the next evening. Needless to say, she isn't doing very well. We now have a separate fencer for the prefresh group.

There are two other things that have really helped us. One is to body score the cows at dry off. I also score them when they move into the prefresh group and again right after they calve. I am more concerned that the cows don't lose body condition at this time rather than the actual score, although we do try to get the cows to calve at about 3.5.

We keep a record of these scores and compare them with the body scores of our vet and our feed man. If we can all see the same changes, then we can fine tune the ration and cow management a little better. If the cows lose body condition, we know that we will have fresh cow problems.

The other thing we do is to write down every incidence of fresh cow diseases, such as milk fever, retained placentas, twisted stomachs, mastititis, ketosis, or infections. Then we can see how we stack up to our goals and adjust our management accordingly. It's a lot more work to write all this down, but when we do this, we don't forget how much trouble we're having. We also don't remember just one cow and think it's a hard problem. When we have the real numbers we can better talk to our vet and feed man about correcting the problem. To me, it's like milk weighing and figuring crop yields. When we measure the result, we can manage better.

In looking back over our experiences, it sure looks like the prefresh group is an area where we can't take short cuts. When we do our homework, the cows do much better for us. Again, an ounce of prevention is really worth 10 pounds of cure.

Note: Readers may send any questions or comments about these articles to the Lancaster Farming office. I received a letter from a reader who likes grazing better than conventional dairying. I will discuss this issue in next month's column. Thank you for writing—we want to have an open discussion going.

Cousins Keith Bollinger, seated, and Andy Bollinger beat competition at the FFA Youth Tractor Contest at the Ephrata Fair. The cousins, both students at Ephrata FFA, attribute their driving expertise to FFA training at Ephrata High School. Keith also has a part-time job on a farm that gives him driving experience. Keith, named champion, is the son of Sharon and Raymond Bollinger. Reserve champion Andy is the son of Jim and Gerry Bollinger.

Lampeter Selects Two Champion Market Lambs

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Lampeter Fair chose two grand champion market lambs. One in the 4-H division and the other in the FFA division of the sheep show.

Vince Metzler, recuperating from a concussion suffered while preparing his sheep, took the grand champion title with his 119-pound Hampshire Dorset cross named Sassy.

It's the first year that Vince has shown lambs, which he raised for a FFA project. He is a sophomore and FFA student at Penn Manor High School.

On Sunday, a freak accident happened while Vince was washing his lamb in preparation for the show. A head injury resulted in him being hospitalized for a concussion. Although not fully recuperated, Vince wanted to show his sheep and was glad he did after claiming the top trophy in the FFA division.

The son of Dan and Ethel Metzler, Vince helps on the family's Mt. Nebo farm, where they raise cattle and crops, and a few pigs and sheep for fair competition.

In 4-H competition, Tiffany Dean showed the winning market lamb, a champion heavyweight named Stormy. The sheep was purchased from Tim Fleener, a breeder in Lebanon County.

Last week, 9-year-old Tiffany also won the champion market lamb title at Solanco Fair. She is the daughter of Joan and Gary Dean of Strasburg.

Junior showmanship was won by 17-year-old Joy Young, who went on to win showmanship honors over all. It was the first showmanship win of Joy who credits her market lamb Tristan for cooperating. Joy helps on the family's 300-acre Peach Bottom farm where they have a 300-head dairy and some horses.

The senior showmanship trophy went to 17-year-old Tina Henry, daughter of John and Bonnie Henry of Pequea. She is a senior FFA student at Penn Manor High School.

Tremendous Swine Show Says Judge Gruber

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — "It was my day," Klinton Frey summed up the Lampeter FFA Swine Show on Wednesday.

Klinton not only took the champion market hog trophy but also the showmanship trophy in his division and the middleweight and light heavyweigth champion titles.

Judge Henry Gruber of Lehigh County said that the champion market hog was more muscular in the ham area, had a strong ham loin, and its connection tells its a high quality loin.

"This is a tremendous show. It's a good quality hogs and good quality kids working with them," Gruber said of the hog show that included separate 4-H and FFA competition.

It was the second year that 15-year-old Klinton showed hogs but the first time for a champion trophy.

"I knew it was a good hog and I guess this was a pay off for working on the farm all my life," Klinton said. He helps his parents, Norma and Dave Frey, on their Washington Boro farm where they raise 600 head of feeder hogs, some beef, and grow tobacco.

Showing the grand champion 4-H hog was Allison Hughes, daughter of Chet and Marie Hughes of Lancaster.

"It has extreme length, tremendous ham and muscle," Gruber said of the champion 4-H hog.

Allison said the 248-pound hog came from her uncle Keith Bard's farm in Cambria County. Of Yorkshire-Hamp cross named Moonbeam, Allison said, "He was my buddy. I really liked him."

Allison is accumulating a roomful of trophies in her success in showing both hogs and sheep. She said, "My dad is going to make a trophy room."

Senior showmanship went to Jay Hess, last year's winner.

"This is my last year in FFA, so I'm happy to end my year this way," the 20-year-old said. A graduate of Penn Manor High School, Jay works on his parent's (Abe's and Janie's) 250-sow farrow to finish hog farm called Bacon Acres.

Dorset breeding sheep honors went to Jessica Schmidt, center, holding the champion called Mantea. April Leaman, left, holds the reserve and Sara Strickler holds the champion ram — all belonging to Jessica.

Allison Hughes shows the 4-H champion market hog that judge Henry Gruber calls extreme in length with tremendous ham.

40th State Junior Dairy Show Displays Strong Quality, Depth

Guernsey, a senior calf, Spring Walk Franks Madonna, sired by Spring Walk B T Frank, and bred by Spring Walk Farm, Big Prairies, Ohio.

The reserve junior champion was an intermediate yearling, Trotacre Bucky Mamie, owned by Holly Liggett, of Bessemer. A daughter of Sniders Volcano Bucky, she was bred by Trotacre Farm, in Enon Valley.

The junior-age, best owned and bred animal was a junior calf, Twin Brook Magic Poppy, exhibited by Adam McMurray, of Eighty Four.

Holstein

In the Holstein show, a 5-year-old, Globe Run CB Top Oslo, shown by Lory Ann Baker, of McConnellsburg, was named senior and grand champion.. A home-bred animal, the cow is a daughter of Globe Run Warden Top Gun

Elizabeth Walton, of Carlisle, showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion Holstein, a 4-year-old, Fountain Farm Lead Molly. A daughter of Rothrock Tradition Leadman-ET, she was bred by Harry and Aliene Thompson, Carlisle.

One animal was selected as the best animal owned and bred in the Holstein breed, instead of having two animals named, according to age division.

A senior yearling, Pack Herd Encore Bazuka, exhibited by David Packard, of Troy, was named the best bred and owned, and it was named the junior champion. The heifer is a daughter of Marcrest Encore

The reserve junior champion was a junior yearling, Dar-Dale Nittany Pepsi, owned by Dixie Lynn Doll, of Glen Rock. A Singing-Brook Nittany-ET daughter, the heifer is a home-bred animal

Jersey

In the Jersey show, a junior 3-year-old, Dorlyn Junctions Wendy, owned by Scott Lackey, of Clarks Mills, was named senior and grand champion. A daughter of Diarwood Junction, it was bred by Nan Dorp Carolyn, of Seaforth, Ontario.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a senior 3-year-old, Eastmont Juno Debbie, showed by Samantha Wilcox, of Covington. A daughter of Valleystream JIS Juno, the cow was a home-bred animal.

The best bred and owned senior-age animal was a junior 3-year-old, which placed third in its class to the grand champion, Ranking Juno Sabrina. Sabrina was shown by Lisa Rankin, of Burgettstown, and is also a Juno daughter.

The junior champion Jersey was a summer yearling, Creme Parfait Imperial DeGwan, owned by Ben Clonnger, of Centre Hall. A Meadown Lawn J Imperial daughter, the heifer was bred by Robert and Jan O'Conner, of Boalsburg.

The reserve junior champion Jersey was a junior yearling, Neshaminy Imperial Prestige, bred and owned by Amy Plummer, of Chalfont. The heifer is a Meadow Lawn Imperial daughter out of Amy's older show cow Top-O-Hill Juno Patches. It was the best bred and owned junior-age animal.

Milking Shorthorn

The Milking Shorthorn show was the smallest of the breed shows, reflecting its commercial dairy status in the state. However, the animals exhibited were praised by the judge for the quality. And though the senior cow classes — from the senior 3-year-old class on — were single-animal entries, most all classes had depth.

The senior and grand champion was a 4-year-old, Summit Vista Roscoe Iran Twin, owned by Jason Heeter, of Shade Gap. The cow is a daughter of Summit Vista Roscoe, bred by Mark Goshorn, of Blairs Mills.

Matthew Goshorn, also of Blairs Mills, showed the best animal bred and owned, a senior 2-year-old, Summit Vista Enhance Daisy-Exp, which placed third in its class. She is a daughter of Kingsdale Enhancer-ET.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a junior 2-year-old, Horizon Enhancer Rozlyn-Exp, owned by Chriselle Fisher, of New Enterprise. A Kings Dale Enhancer daughter, she was bred by Christine Young, of New Enterprise.

JOE GRAYBEAL
President

The Lancaster DHIA Board of Directors met in August. The Board is pleased to report that operations are running smoothly.

Jere High, Lab Manager, reported the number of samples being tested in our lab was higher than projected. Lab results are being mailed back to the dairymen in less than two days from date of test.

Manager, Jay Mylin, informed the board that 1188 herds were on test at the end of July. This is an increase of fifty from a year ago. Since December 1993, the average number of cows on test has increased by almost 4,000 per month.

Rodney Denlinger, chairman of the by-laws committee, reported our solicitor recommended no changes to our new by-law proposal. The committee will have a presentation prepared for our annual meeting in December.

The Eastern Caucus of NDHIA will be held November 12-13 in Ithaca, New York. Several board members were encouraged to attend.

NDHIA has taken significant steps forward with its Performance Economics program. Dairy farmers expressed a need for combining production and financial data. This may be an opportunity for DHIA to provide even more useful data. A pilot project to test the program should be completed by the end of 1995. Lancaster DHIA supports this important project being handled by NDHIA.

Lancaster DHIA is a member of the DRPC Raleigh Advisory Board. Membership on the board alternates between a dairyman and a manager (or extension personnel). Since Joe Graybeal's term is about to expire, the board of directors appointed Jay Mylin to be our next representative to the Advisory Board of DRPC at Raleigh.

Rhonda Kieklak Sweeps Awards At State Pageant

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "I assure you that every chance I get, I will help Pennsylvania to appreciate dairy farmers more," Rhonda Joy Kieklak promised the crowd attending the 39th Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation.

It was no idle promise from the 17-year-old, who hugs her dad every day and tells him that she's glad to be a dairy farmer's daughter. She'd like to see a Farmer's Appreciation Day proclaimed for what she calls the unsung heroes — dairy farmers.

Her dad, Richard, missed the opportunity of seeing his daughter sweep awards in every category at the pageant competition held in Harrisburg last Saturday.

"Dad hasn't had a vacation in 21 years. He's a very dedicated farmer," Rhonda said of her dad's hesitation to travel from the family farm in Erie County to Harrisburg.

Perhaps it is his dedication that Rhonda has learned to emulate.

"Whatever Rhonda does, she throws her whole self into it and does well," said her mother Robin.

She certainly did well during the two-day competition among 34 county dairy princesses vying for the state title. Rhonda took trophies in presentation, speech, and scrapbook categories, and was voted Miss Congeniality by fellow contestants for being the friendliest and most outgoing.

Rhonda will be assisted in state promotional duties by First Alternate Heather Oberholtzer, daughter of Clair and LaVerne Oberholtzer from Lancaster County, and Second Alternate Yvonne Peterman, daughter of Kendall and Cheryl Peterman from Lycoming County.

A panel of four judges selected seven finalists from the 34 contestants on stage. In addition to Rhonda, Heather, and Yvonne, the other four finalists were Melanie Snyder representing Clarion-Venango counties; Beth Marshall, representing Beaver-Lawrence Counties; Jodi Lynn Colton, Bradford County; and Tracy Post, Crawford County.

To determine poise and the ability to speak fluently while under pressure, the seven finalists were asked an impromptu question before the 400 people in the audience. The question asked by master of ceremonies Grover Gouker was, "What was the best advice you ever received and who gave it to you?"

Rhonda said that the best advice she ever received was from her parents and that is to follow in God's footsteps. "If you follow God and keep your head, you can accomplish anything," she said.

(Turn to Page B3)

Newly crowned Rhonda Joy Kieklak waves to the crowd as she takes the traditional walk down the runway at the 39th Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation.

The lights dim and music gathers momentum as waiters march the full length of the banquet room to serve pitchers of milk to the more than 400 guests attending the pageant.

The seven finalists selected from 33 county dairy princesses are from left, Lancaster County Dairy Princess Heather Oberholtzer, Crawford County Dairy Princess Tracy Lynn Post, Bradford County Dairy Princess Jodi Lynn Colton, Pennsylvania and Erie County Dairy Princess Rhonda Kieklak, Lycoming County Dairy Princess Yvonne Peterman, Clarion-Venango Dairy Princess Melanie Kay Snyder, and Beaver-Lawrence Dairy Princess Beth Marshall.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Eager to someday wear the crown, 3-year-old Lynne ran up to congratulate the new state princess. Her mother, Tammy Cree Christopher, was the state dairy princess in 1983.

Escorting retiring Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Natalie Welch is her father David Welch, a veterinarian in Somerset County.

One is never too young to dream. Five-year-old Sarah Weimer watches the pageant festivities with her mother Cindy Neely Weimer, who was state dairy princess in 1980.

State Dairy Pageant

She expounded on that belief by saying that there is a need to keep high moral standards.

First Alternate Heather said that her parents told her that with hard work and responsibility, you can go for your dreams and not let fear get in the way.

Second Alternate Yvonne credited the best advice she ever received to Wanda Yoder, co-chairperson for the central district for PDPPS, who advised the contestants to throw their hearts over the obstacle that they feared and their bodies would follow. It was advice that Yvonne said that she applied as a contestant and became a finalist as a result.

Melanie Snyder said that her mother taught her to always follow your dreams, no matter what. "If you reach for the sky and fall, it doesn't matter. Work as hard as you can and you will succeed." Melanie is the daughter of Jack and Donna Snyder, who farm 500 acres with 300 Holsteins and sheep.

Beth Marshall, daughter of Curtis and Ruth Marshall, said she was given the same advice from family and friends and that was to always be yourself.

Jodi Colton, daughter of Debbie and Daniel Colton, said that her father always taught her to live each day to the fullest and to do something above her ability.

Tracy Lynn Post, daughter of Jack and Pamela Post, said that her best friend's gave her the best advice and that was to be herself and have fun.

Two persons received awards for the most outstanding presentations. In addition to Rhonda, Franklin County Dairy Princess Anne Main, daughter of Monie and Liza Main, gave her award-winning presentation before the audience.

Rhonda, dressed as a cheerleader, demonstrated her many talents by leading a cheer for milk, portraying an actress auditioning for a milk commercial, singing a commercial promoting milk, and ending with a catchy rap in support of milk.

Anne Main dressed as a milk drop, pulled dairy products from

Robin Kleklak is the mother of the new state dairy princess, Rhonda Joy. Because her dad Richard is committed to his cows, he was unable to make the trip from Erie County to attend the pageant in Harrisburg.

Speech-award winners are Clarion-Venango Dairy Princess Melanie Kay Snyder and Erie County Dairy Princess Rhonda Joy Kleklak, who became the state dairy princess.

For one year, Jan Harding becomes "mom" to the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess as she travels across the state, fulfilling promotional duties for the dairy industry.

the oversized outfit she wore as she packed a wallop of information in a comic presentation.

Receiving honorable mention in the presentation category were Mercer County Dairy Princess Meghan Kellbg, daughter of Richard and Wendy Kellogg; Somerset County Dairy Princess Amy Sue Paul, daughter of Leon and Dorothy Jane Paul; and Crawford County Dairy Princess Tracy Post, daughter of Jack and Pamela Post.

Rhonda also gave her award-winning speech before the audience. In it, she spoke of the commitment of dairy farmers and how often they are taken for granted or degraded. She encouraged the audience to take the time to be thankful and show appreciation to the unsung heroes by verbally thanking them and by buying dairy products. She included a personal tribute to her dad who she calls her own special unsung hero.

Melanie Kay Snyder, the Clarion-Venango dairy princess, also gave an award-winning speech. She told about her home farm, 4-H leadership, and attending Penn State. Her most important projects are dairy projects, she said. Cows produce about 2,000 gallons of milk a year, from which 55 different dairy products are made. According to her calculations, it would take one person 14 years to drinking three glasses a day to consume as much milk as a cow produces in a year.

Receiving honorable mention in the speech competition were Bedford County Dairy Princess Jennifer Lynn Brumbaugh, daughter of Kathleen and Roger Brumbaugh; Mifflin County Dairy Princess Diane Yoder, daughter of Gideon and Hazel Yoder; and Cumberland County Dairy Princess Lora Ellen Brownewell, daughter of Robert and Debra Brownewell.

Scrapbook awards went to Jolene Martin, daughter of David and Sara Martin of Centre County, and Jennifer Davis, daughter of Ray and Frances Davis of Berks County. Honorable mention went to Rhonda Kieklak; Beth Marshall, representing Beaver-Lawrence and the daughter of Curtis and Ruth Marshall; Crystal Couch, daughter of Bill and Anne Couch of Huntingdon County; and Tracy Lynn Post, daughter of Jack and Pamela Post of Crawford County.

In support of the dairy industry, Paul and Louise Brown of Huntingdon County bid $525 for this mounted Winross truck. With the Browns is their niece Huntingdon County Dairy Princess Crystal Couch.

For the first time ever at the pageant, a Winross truck was auctioned to kick off the upcoming 40th year celebration for dairy princess promotion. The money collected goes toward the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award, given annually to the county dairy princess judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry within her county. It is based on the number and kinds of appearances under which she has served.

High bidder for the Winross truck was Paul and Louise Brown of Huntingdon County. Brown, who bid $525, heads Paul W. Brown Excavating Inc. and operates a swine and beef farm.

Brown grew up on a dairy farm and has four brothers who are dairy farmers. Although Brown is not a dairy farmer, he said all generations on both sides of his family have been farmers since settling in Huntingdon Valley in 1780.

Brown purchased the Winross truck because of his belief in the continuation of the dairy princess program. His niece Crystal Couch is the dairy princess for Huntingdon County, his sister was a former county dairy princess, and several other sisters have served as alternates.

The Browns' children were in 4-H with Tina Shultz for whom the award is given in memory. Tina was the 1985-86 Huntingdon Dairy Princess who served her county's dairy industry while fighting a losing battle with cancer.

This year's winner of the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award went to Rachel Tanis of Centre County.

Wanda Yoder, central district coordinator, who presented the award to Rachel Tanis called her the "Iron Lady in Dairy Promotion," and recounted a Top 10 List of why Rachel deserved the award.

In her farewell speech, retiring princess Natalie Welch challenged the dairy princesses to give all you can, that it is the ambition of the girls that pushes the dairy industry forward.

Judges for the event included Dr. J. Lee Majeskie from Maryland, Susan Crowell of Ohio, Jason Devino of Vermont, and Betty Emerling of New York.

Speech judges included Joyce Bupp from York, Paul Miller from Harrisburg, and Betty Rode from Harrisburg.

Scrapbook judges were Stephanie Meyers of New York and Norma Lash of McConnellsburg.

Dairy princesses must come from a dairy farm or dairy-related background, own dairy animals or they or their parents must be employed in the dairy industry or an agribusiness that serves it. They must be single and be between the ages of 16 and 24, and possess the knowledge, poise, and speaking ability necessary to carry out their many duties as spokespersons for the dairy industry.

The new dairy princess and her family own a 100-acre farm in Wattsburg, called 4R Farm, named for parents Richard and Robin, Rhonda, and a sister Renee, 19. The family has 75 Holsteins and raise oats, corn, and hay.

Rhonda is a senior at Seneca High School, where she is president of her class, editor-in-chief of the yearbook, a member of the National Honor Society and Student Council, and a cheerleader.

Her expertise at "winning everything at the pageant" evidently carries over into other areas. Recently, classmates voted her "Best all Around," "Most School Spirit," "Class Clown," and "Loudest." In keeping with school policy, a student is allowed only one title, so Rhonda must choose one from those four titles.

She is a member of her church youth group, enjoys long walks in the woods and through the pasture, and collecting antiques. She also enjoys hunting and has bagged a 9-point buck twice in her hunting history.

"I love everything," Rhonda said, "but I realize something in my schedule is going to need to go since I won the state title. I suspect that I'll be doing plenty of studying in the car while traveling to dairy promotions."

After a wet spring and dry summer trees are already shedding their leaves. A recent article in "Organic Gardening" magazine reminds us what a wonderful resource those falling leaves are. Their advice is to "Dig, Cover, and Layer."

Here are ideas that may work in your backyard. Dig you leaves into the top 8 inches of soil. Rutgers University found that leaves used as a soil amendment can signigicantly reduce problems caused by pest nematodes. Three to 6 inches of leaves worked into the soil in the fall helps reduce drought stress during the following hot, dry summer.

Cover the soil surface of flower beds with leaves. Tuck a layer of shredded leaves around young perennials after the ground has frozen to protect them from frost heaving.

Layer leaves into your compost pile. Dr. Harry Hoitink, plant pathologist at Ohio State University suggests there are no leaves that can't be composted-including black walnut leaves. Composting will destroy the walnut toxin called juglone in black walnut leaves in one month.

In addition, mulch leaves with a lawn mower onto your lawn. Mulching mowers, including the new rechargeable electric mowers run several times over a layer of leaves shred them fine enough for disbursal over the lawn. If more leaves are present then suitable for mulching use a bagger attachment. Shred leaves in the yard for a make-shift compost pile.

The Penn State Master Gardeners at the Compost Park at Springettsbury Township Park (across from the Galleria Mall in York) are holding free composting classes on Saturday, October 14. Classes will be held starting at 9 a.m. and concluding at 3 p.m. For more information, call the Extension office at (717) 840-7408.

In addition to the classes, the York County Solid Waste Authority is distributing low cost backyard compost bins. Residents of York County can purchase bins from the Authority for $8 on Saturday, October 14 at the Authority's Management Center at 2700 Blackbridge Road, York from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This cost is a reduced cost, offset by a grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources. The Authority sold more than 1,000 bins during its first Saturday sale held on Earth Day last April.

The bins are made from 100 percent post-consumer plastic recycled from South Central Pennsylvania. The circular bin adjusts to three or four feet in diameter depending on your composting needs making it perfect for urban as well as rural backyards. It assembles with four stainless steel bolts and is anchored to the ground by three plastic pegs. Instructional brochures are included with each bin. For more information about the compost bin purchase program call the Authority at (717) 845-1066.

Make It Chicken Tonight

Chicken brings more to the table than good flavor. In a world where it often seems that "anything good is bad for you," chicken is an amazing exception.

Chicken does not need rich sauces or other calorie-laden ingredients to enhance its flavor. It is delicious baked or roasted with nothing but its natural seasoning. The addition of calorie-free herbs or spices can give chicken entirely different tastes.

Removing the skin on chicken cuts the already low fat content almost in half.

CHICKEN AND STUFFING

1 package stuffing favorite stuffing mix
1 pound boneless chicken breasts
1 can mushroom soup
Paprika
Pepper

Brown chicken in 1 tablespoon oil or cook 20 minutes in the oven. Prepare stuffing as directed on box. Line 13x9-inch casserole dish with stuffing mix. Layer chicken. Pour soup on top and sprinkle with pepper and paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

CHICKEN WATERZOIE

⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
3 tablespoons flour
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
Parsley

Put chicken in pot with tight fitting lid. Add water, bay leaf, onion, celery, salt, pepper, and thyme; cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 40 minutes. Remove chicken. Strain broth and measure 2 cups into pot. Stir ¼ cup water into flour to make a paste. Add to broth in pot, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil. Beat egg yolks, lemon juice, and sugar with a fork. Stir in a small amount of the hot mixture then gradually add to broth, stirring constantly. Add chicken; heat. Turn into serving dish. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

HOMEMADE CHICKEN BROTH

4-5 pound roasting chicken
2 medium onions, quartered
2 large carrots, halved
2 ribs celery, halved
1 green bell pepper, halved
½ cup fresh parsley sprigs
6 whole cloves
2 bay leaves
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
3-3½ -quarts water

Place the chicken, including the neck and the giblets, but not the liver, in a large stockpot. Add the remaining ingredients. The water should cover the chicken completely. Cover and bring to a boil over high heat, then skim off froth as it forms on top. Reduce heat and simmer 2 hours.

Remove the chicken from the pot, allow to cool a bit, then remove meat and skin, reserving meat for another use (such as soup, salad, sandwich filling, pot pie). Return the bones and skin to the pot. Simmer the broth, covered, for 2 hours or more.

Strain the broth through a sieve into a bowl, pressing the vegetables and bones with a rubber spatula to extract and liquidfy. Chill broth overnight in the refrigerator and skim off the fat. Freeze any stock that will not be used within 2 or 3 days in pints or quart containers.

It's chicken dressing time again at our house. I save the neck and backs and made this broth to freeze.

Pennsylvania's broccoli is well known for its tenderness and flavor and is currently available at farmers' markets and roadside stands statewide.

Best of all, broccoli is a healthy, low calorie way to enjoy the bounty of the vegetable harvest season. Broccoli is an excellent source of vitamins A and C. In fact, broccoli supplies almost 80 percent of a day's dose of vitamin A, and has the highest dietary fiber content of all Pennsylvania-grown vegetables — all with only 14 calories per half cup serving.

The state's growing season runs well into November, assuring consumers of a good supply. Choose broccoli with tightly packed heads. Stalks should be green with dark green or purplish-green buds. Broccoli may be refrigerated in a vegetable crisper or airtight container.

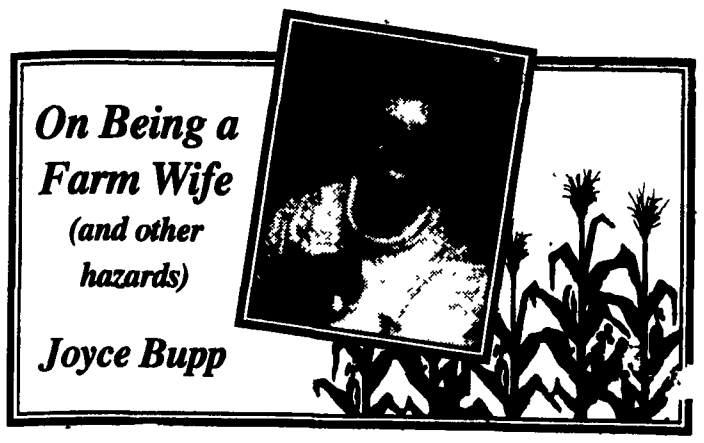
Here is a recipe for a red, yellow, and green vegetable dish that tastes as good as it looks.

BROCCOLI AND SWEET PEPPER STIR-FRY

1 bunch broccoli
1 sweet red pepper
1 sweet yellow pepper
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 onion, chopped
1 teaspoon grated ginger root
¼ cup chicken stock
2 teaspoons soy sauce

Peel tough broccoli stems, cut stems and florets into pieces about 1½ -inches long. Blanch in large pot of boiling water for 2 to 3 minutes or until bright green and tender-crisp; drain, cool under cold running water and dry on paper towels. Seed peppers and cut into thin strips.

In large, heavy skillet or wok, heat oil over medium heat. Add onion and ginger, stir-fry for 1 minute. Add peppers and stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes, adding chicken stock when necessary to prevent sticking or scorching. Add broccoli; stir-fry until heated through; sprinkle with soy sauce. Serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.



"Uh, we had some intruders overnight."

My head snaps up from where it was buried in the newspaper, and apprehension makes me shiver in the wake of his announcement. Intruders? Cattle rustlers like those who mde off with heifers many years ago? Or a repeat of our one-time baling twine thieves? Another passer-by who heisted a bag of corn and a new shovel?

"Oh, there were just a couple of heifers that found a hole in the fence last night."

Intruder is much too nice a word here. Calling escaped heifers intruders is like saying Atilla the Hun was a street vandal or that General Custer and the Indians had a minor disagreement at The Little Big Horn.

Escaped heifers mean a full-scale, major destruction-and-devastation derby. Heifers are like all carefree adolescents. Like kittens unraveling yarn all over the living room floor, or scaling the dining room drapes. Or like puppies that chew up new boots and drag wet wash from the line and through the muddy flower beds.

In other words, what they do, they do with eagerness and abandon And with an unmistakable, undeniable, streak of mischievousness.

Heifers on the lam all start out the same way: they run. Run, kicking heels and scattering dust. Run, making paths through tall, damp alfalfa, flatteningn stalks of corn. Run, through gardens and flowerbeds, across lawns, up and down barn alleyways.

But once they get that out of their systems, heifers usually tend to drift back toward home. Maybe just to see if anyone has noticed. Or, if someone hasn't. And, If someone hasn't, then it's time to get down to some heavy-duty plundering.

Key plundering strategy of our heifers usually centers around the calf nursery and weaned heifer pens and alleyways under the old bank barn. Here, the sweetest grain mixes and select hay are kept stocked ahead. Younger calves often leave some of the molasses-laced grain in their individual buckets and only nibble at hay rations.

After sampling several buckets of leftover feed, plus scattering a few just to see how far the grain flies over the calf nursery floor, they'll move on to hay for dessert. Now, everyone knows that the greenest, sweetest, tastiest hay is always buried smack in the middle of the bale. And there's only one way to get at it.

How heifers can so thoroughly rip, shred and scatter to the winds those snugly-tied bales of hay defies the imagination. Especially when I need a knife to cut the dog-gone things apart. And, by gosh, when they finally get to the middle, the hay apparently doesn't taste all that much better than did those first couple of bites from the outside corners. So it makes sense that it be scattered and strewn to every corner.

Then, like artists signing their work, marauding bands of renegade heifers leave behind the inevitable scattered residues of manure, more evidence of their rampaging that must be swept, shoveled and forked away.

Even before that clean-up can be accomplished, the shovels, forks and brooms must be retrieved from where they, too, were knocked from their normal places as the renegades partied all night.

Like all adolescents, heifers eventually grow up, settle down (well, most of them) and become reasonably, well-behaved producing members of the milking string.

Just in time for the next batch of renegades to take their places.

Hans Herr House To Celebrate Harvest With Snitz Fest

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster) — An autumn ride on a horse-drawn Conestoga wagon through the orchard at the Hans Herr House, delicious foods made with apples in the old Pennsylvania German fashion, and demonstrations ranging from native American fish or meat drying to oxen-powered corn-grinding are some of the many highlights awaiting visitors to this year's Snitz Fest at the Hans Herr House and Museum.

The eighth annual event will take place on Saturday, October 7 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the grounds of the museum. Nearly 40 historic varieties of apples will be available for sampling, grown right in the orchard on the premises of Lancaster County's oldest existing structure. In addition to the apple-testing table, visitors to Snitz Fest will be able to sample apples in a variety of other forms. Apple butter making, cider pressing, and "snitzing" apples for drying will all be ongoing activities throughout the day. Colonial apple recipes will be used in turning out delicacies from the past at both the raised hearth in the 1719 Herr House and at the outdoor beehive bakeoven.

While focusing primarily on the apple and the impact of its importance upon Lancaster County's first settlers, other aspects of the harvest and the autumn season will be celebrated, as well. Children will enjoy the wide variety of 18th century games to be played. Kids of all ages will want to get on a wagon for a ride through the orchard or around the grounds. Both the 1719 house and 1835 house (across the street) will be open for tours or browsing. The blacksmith shop will be in use, and the smokehouse will emit the good smell of smoked sausage.

Activities to observe include seeing corn husked by hand and shelled with an oxen-powered sheller, sorghum pressing, broom-making using "broom corn," and woodworking skills in the making of miniature wagons. Fabric dyeing and buttermaking add diversity to the demonstrations of life in years gone by.

A new feature this year is the skills of native Americans, who will show fish or meat drying techniques and grind corn into meal. Additional new Snitz Fest activities include Scherenschnitte, an old German papercutting skill used in the making of beautiful designs, and demonstrations of a fencepost-making machine.

Admission to Snitz Fest is $4.50 for adults and $1 for children ages 7-12. Snitz Fest is a fun-filled educational event sponsored by the Herr House Foundation. The Hans Herr House is located 5 miles south of the city of Lancaster, PA, near the village of Willow Street, just south of Routes US 222 and PA 741 and one mile east of PA 272. For more information, call (717) 464-4438.

Farm Safety Day Camp

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — A free farm safety day camp for children ages 8 to 13 is planned for Saturday, October 14, at Beaver Fairgrounds, Beaver Springs, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension, the camp will reinforce the importance of taking responsibility for their own safety, respecting parent's safety rules, and sharing safety tips with family and friends.

Parents can register their children for the camp by calling the Union County Extension Office at (717) 524-8721. Registrations must be received by October 2.

The free camp includes lunch, farm cap, first aid kit, safety packet, and door prizes. Children under 8 years old must be accompanied by an adult.

SPINACH-STUFFED CHICKEN BREASTS

4 chicken breast halves, boned, skin left on
1 teaspoon fresh tyme
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon olive oil

Spinach and cheese stuffing:

1 onion, finely chopped
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 pound spinach, washed, stemmed, and chopped
½ cup low-fat ricotta cheese
½ cup freshly grated parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon fresh basil, finely chopped
Freshly ground black pepper

Yogurt-tomato sauce

1 cup plain low-fat yogurt
1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 ripe tomato, peeled, seeded, and finely chopped
4 large basil leaves, thinly-sliced
Freshly ground pepper

To prepare the stuffing, cook the onion in the butter and oil in a large, heavy-bottomed skillet over medium heat until translucent — about five minutes. Add the spinach to the pan and cook until it is wilted and the moisture has evaporated — about six minutes more. Transfer the mixture to a bowl and let it cool. Stir in the cheeses, basil, and some pepper.

To make the sauce, mix the yogurt, vinegar, and salt in a small bowl. Reserve 1 teaspoon of the tomato and 1 teaspoon basil, and stir the remainder into the yogurt mixture. Add pepper to taste. Transfer the sauce to a serving bowl, garnish it with the reserved tomato and basil, and set it aside. Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

To make pockets for the stuffing, loosen the skin of each breast by running a finger between the flesh and skin on one long side, leaving the skin attached on the other side. Rub the thyme and salt into the flesh. Drizzle ¼ teaspoon olive oil onto the skin of each breast. Neatly fill each pocket between skin and flesh with one quarter of the stuffing. Place the breasts kin side up in an oiled baking dish just large enough to hold them, and bake until the skin turns golden brown, about 25 minutes.

Remove the dish from the oven. Put the chicken breasts on a cutting board and allow them to cool for a few minutes. Cut each breast into ½ -inch wide slices and arrange on a warmed serving platter or on individual plates. Serve with yogurt sauce.

ANSWER — Anne Wiegle, Pottstown, wanted a recipe for Cornell Formula Bread. Thanks to Joanna Garber Miller, Jarrettsville, Md., for sending the recipe, which is printed in a cookbook, "The Cornell Bread Book: 54 Recipe for Nutritious Loaves, Rolls and Coffee Cakes," by Olive M. McCay and Jeannette B. McCay. The book includes several variations of this recipe. Write to Dover Publications, Inc.; Department of Cooking: 31 E. 2nd St., Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

Cornell White Bread

Place in a large mixing bowl, and let stand:
3 cups warm water
2 tablespoons active dry yeast
2 tablespoons honey or brown sugar
3 teaspoons sea salt
2 tablespoons salad oil

Measure and stir together:
6 cups unbleached flour
3 tablespoons wheat germ
½ cup full-fat soy flour
¾ cup nonfat dry milk

Stir the liquids and add while stirring:
½ to ¾ flour mixture

Beat vigorously, about 75 strokes by hand or 2 minutes with electric mixer. Add remaining flour mixture.

Work and mix flour in thoroughly and vigorously by hand 5 minutes. At first the dough will be sticky as you grasp it. Beat it, turning it round and round in the bowl. At the end of this time, you'll feel it change and become firmer.

Turn dough onto floured board and knead using 1 to 3 cups more flour, as needed, to make the dough smooth.

Place in an oiled bowl. Grease top of dough lightly and cover.

Let rise in a warm place until double in size, about 1 hour. (Fingerprint remains when dough has risen enough). If the room is cold, place bowl in another bowl of hot water.

Punch dough down, fold ovr edges and turn upside down to rise another 20 minutes, or until double again.

Turn onto board and divde dough into 3 portions. Fold each into the center to make smooth, tight balls. Cover and let stand 10 minutes on the board while you oil the baking pans.

Shape into 3 loaves or 2 loaves and a pan of rolls.

Place shaped dough in oiled loaf pans.

Let rise in pans until double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in 350 degree oven for 50-60 minutes (30 minutes for rolls). If the loaves begin to brown in 15-20 minutes, reduce the temperature. Bread is done if it sounds hollow when tapped.

Remove bread from the pans and put on a rack or cloth to cool. Brush with oil if a thin, tender crust is desired. Let cool completely before wrapping and storing or freezing.

This bread is also called Golden Triple Rich, by the Itaca Co-op Food Store, where it was first sold commercially in the 1950s. The bread is not actually white, but a pleasing creamy color.

Soy Products Lower Cholesterol

CRANFORD, N.J. — Tofutti Brands Inc., manufacturer of nondairy frozen desserts and other food products made with tofu, points to a report in the Aust 3 issue of "The New England Journal of Medicine," which states that soy protein significantly lowers cholesterol levels in people with moderately high to high cholesterol.

The Journal's findings conclude that the addition of soy protein to either a low-fat or even the ordinary American diet appears to be among the most potent cholesterol-lowering dietary factors yet discovered.

Thirteen years ago, a Brooklyn-born kosher caterer created a frozen soy dessert with the taste of real ice cream. The Kosher community, restricted from eating meat and dairy products at the same meal, heralded this nondairy frozen dessert. The product was also welcomed by the lactose-intolerant and cholesterol conscious consumers.

In addition to reducing cholesterol levels, a report in the November 29, 1993 issue of the "Wall Street Journal" credited soy with reducing the risk of prostate cancer.

Tofutti products are KOF-K koshr and parve (neither meat nor dairy). Products are sold and distributed across the U.S. and internationally, in supermarket chains, gourmet specialty shops, and health food stores.

Solanco Fair Brings Out 'Kids' Of All Ages

Balloons, cows, tractors, and ducks fascinate these siblings who tour the fairgrounds in a wagon. Gracie, 5; Paige, 4; Blake, 3, and Luke, 2, are the children of Steve and Jewell Shivery of Christiana.

Nine-year-old Michele Mummau took a red ribbon for this dried flower arrangement. It was the first time she entered an exhibit at the Solanco Fair. Sharing the joy of her success are parents Ron and Bev, and brothers, Jeremy, 7, and Justin, 5. The Mummaus are from Quarryville.

Two-year-old Jessica Snyder begs her mother Joanne Snyder and grandmother Joan Twaddell to let her "push a lamb around the ring," while watching the Solanco Fair Sheep Show.

Ironically, several Stoltzfus families who previously did not know each other ended up eating at this table. In the front are Nancy and Melvin Stoltzfus of Willow Street with granddaughter Amanda Swope, 6. Reuben and Ben Stoltzfus of Kinzers with son Ed, who is from New Jersey, and daughter Allie.

One is never too young to enter exhibits at the fair. "I like prizes," said 5-year-old Kyle, who took a blue ribbon for the cockscomb and a red one for the pumpkin he entered. With Kyle are his parents Tim and Lynne Redcay and brother Kent, 1.

Serving scrumptions milkshakes, ice cream and other dairy favorites at the Solanco Fair are these volunteers.

Cabbage Crop Ready For Consumers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Consumers can obtain fresh cabbage by visiting local farm markets and roadside stands between now and December, according to Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius.

"Our family farms have produced a very good crop of cabbage this year," Brosius said. "Both red and green varieties are entering their peak season right now." He noted that the state is ranked 12th in the nation for cabbage producition.

"Select cabbage with firm, compact heads that are free of yellow, wilted or splitting leaves. Avoid cutting cabbage until just before you are going to use it," Brosius said.

Copies of a consumer's guide listing the locations of Pennsylvania farm markets by county can be obtained by contacting the department's Bureau of Market Development, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408. The telephone number is (717) 787-5086.

ANSWER — Elizabeth wanted a recipe for Walnut Lace Cookies. Thanks to Bonnie Martin, Ephrata, and Joanna Garber Miller, Jarretsville, Md., for sending recipes.

Walnut Lace Wafers

½ cup flour
½ cup black walnuts, finely chopped
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup packed light brown sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line large cookie sheets with foil In small bowl, stir flour and walnuts; set aside. Heat butter, brown sugar, and corn syrup to boiling, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla and flour mixture until blended. Drop by teaspoonful onto foil on cookie sheets, spreading to about 2-inch round cookie. Space about 1-inch apart. Bake cookies 8 minutes or until tops are bubbly. Cool cookies completely on wire racks. When cooled completely, peel foil from cookies. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 4 dozen.

Bonnie writes that her grandmother made these cookies, but it was difficult for Bonnie to determine measurements because her grandmother just added ingredients "until it looked like a good cookie." They are great tasting, she writes, and look great on a cookie tray because the texture is different from other cookies.

Sesame Seed Cookies
Lace Cookies

May substitute ground walnuts for the sesame seeds
½ cup butter
½ cup margarine
1¾ ounces sesame seeds
1 egg
1 pound light brown sugar
3 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty If your work watch stops running within THREE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next three years.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Russell C. Redding, right, congratulates Fred Funk, chairman of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program, on the successful launch of a new campaign to make Pennsylvanians more aware of the benefits of eating a variety of vegetables and fruits every day. One of the key benefits is helping to prevent several forms of cancer. Mike Zordich, strong safety for the Philadelphia Eagles, stars in a 60-second radio public service announcement currently being aired across the state. A star on the 1982 Penn State National Championship team, Zordich urges consumers to eat their "5 A Day."

Eagles, Steelers Join Cancer Society Promoting Pennsylvania Vegetables

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — What do the NFL, cancer, and Pennsylvania vegetables have in common?

"Everything," says Fred Funk, chairman of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program. "NFL trainers report that many top pro football players eat up to 12 servings a day of vegetables and fruits as part of their training diet. And the American Cancer Society has found that eating a variety of vegetables and fruits helps reduce cancer. So, we think there's a natural tie-in."

That's why the Pennsylvania Division of the American Cancer Society and the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program have joined forces to help promote consumer awareness of Pennsylvania-grown vegetables as a healthy addition to their daily diet.

A highlight of this year's campaign are new radio public service announcements featuring two former Penn State stars — Mike Zordich of the Philadelphia Eagles and Darren Perry of the Pittsburgh Steelers. A key reason for spotlighting Zordich and Perry is to help make the public aware that many NFL players eat several servings of vegetables and fruits every day as part of their healthy training regimen.

The American Cancer Society recommends eating a variety of vegetables and fruits daily to help decrease the risk of several forms of cancer, including lung, prostate, bladder, esophagus, colorectal, and stomach cancers. Most leading food and medical authorities recommend eating 5 servings a day of vegetables and fruits.

The Pennsylvania Campaign is also complementing the National 5 A Day Campaign, which runs through October, 1995. The National 5 A Day Campaign also features radio and TV PSAs starring well-known NFL coaches and players. "Take The 5 A Day Challenge!" is the theme for this third annual Campaign.

"Over 900 local farmers' markets will be helping in the statewide 5 A Day Campaign," according to Russell C. Redding, deputy secretary for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. "In addition, supermarket chains like Giant, Weis Markets, Redner's, Fox's Markets, Sunnyway Foods, Food Rite and others will be actively promoting 5 A Day in the weeks ahead."

Efforts will focus on issuing a challenge to Pennsylvanias to track their consumption of 5 A Day vegetables," said Redding. "Once they discover the taste, ease, and convenience of increasing their vegetable and fruit consumption, we think they'll adopt the habit for life!"

In 1995, over 31,000 Pennsylvanians will die of cancer and another 71,000 will develop some form of cancer, according to The American Cancer Society. However, cancer is beatable. The survival rate for all cancers is approaching 50 percent in the United States. Researchers estimate that if everything known about the prevention of cancer was applied, up to two-thirds of cancers would not even occur. Eating more vegetables and fruits and high-fiber foods is one of the key health choices everyone can make to help prevent cancer.

In spite of dry weather in some areas of the state, the 1995 Pennsylvania vegetable crop should be adequate to meet consumer demand. Sweet corn, cantaloupes, tomatoes, cabbage, sweet peppers, broccoli, cauliflower, summer squash, zucchini, and watermelons will be among the locally-produced vegetables available at local farm markets and supermarkets this fall.

To help you get your "5 A Day," The American Cancer Society Cookbook offers many excellent recipes that are not only healthy but delicious as well. The Cookbook is available by calling your local branch of the American Cancer Society in the White Pages of your phone book, or toll free: 1-800-ACS-2345.

Potato Fest Spuds Family Fun

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — The 4th annual Potato Fest is being held in the main streets of Ebensburg on Saturday, September 30, beginning at 9 a.m. This harvest festival, celebrating the potato, is sponsored by the Ebensburg Business District Authority (EBDA). Spokesman Tim Houser promises that "the festival will feature all-day family fun and entertainment."

The Potato Fest was initiated by the EBDA in an effort to promote the area's potato industry. Most of the area's potatoes are grown in the northern part of Cambria County and Ebensburg seemed the logical place to hold this festival.

In addition to a Farmer's Market featuring locally-grown produce, the business district will hold an in-town sidewalk sale.

The food booths are popular, as they are at any festival, and many of these will be serving a "potato" menu. This includes such items as potato candy, potato soup, baked potatoes, the ever-popular french fries, potato pieroghis, and even "flowering" potatoes

A large assortment of homemade craft items is expected in the craft booths and a variety of entertainment will be continuous throughout the day. This includes music, a dog show, an ice sculpture demonstration, a clown, magician, and "Unicycle Sam." "Mr. Potato Head" will even make an appearance. A "children's activities" tent will also be in operation.

Local schools participated in the poster contest and potato carving contest held this past week. Entries are to be judged and prizes will be awarded to the winning students. Last year, carved likenesses of Bill and Hillary Clinton were entered in the contest.

Another feature of the festival is the Miss Potato Fest Pageant.

A few of the chipping companies which purchase Cambria County potatoes distribute sample bags of their product to festival goers. It's quit possible that these chips were made from locally grown tubers.

Mid Mandichak (left) and her sister, Donna Penatzer, in the kitchen of "Mid's Homemade Candy," RD Ebensburg, are busy preparing potato candy for Potato Fest '95.

Why the potato? The lowly spud may seem an odd thing around which to center a celebration, but here in Cambria County, potato is king! In fact, according to figures given by Ron Hostetler of the local PSU extension office, Cambria County ranks second in potato production in Pennsylvania. Only Erie County produces more. Both "chipping" and "table stock" potatoes are grown in the area.

This year's potato season has been a real challenge to area farmers. Present drought conditions are making harvesting a little more difficult since the ground is harder than usual. Hostetler did remark that surprisingly, in spite of the drought, yields seem to be pretty respectable. "In general, the area potatoes are not as big as usual as a consequence of the drought, but there are a lot of potatoes on the vines."

The potato is an economical and versatile vegetable. Potato candy, the stuff that you ate as a kid — a concoction of mashed potatoes and confectioners' sugar, rolled out and smeared with peanut butter, will be featured. However, Mid Mandichak, owner of "Mid's Homemade Candy" located in RD Ebensburg, has taken the old-fashioned potato candy recipe and through trial and error in her candy kitchen, updated it for a more modern taste.

Mid, a member of the Ebensburg Rotary, along with several other Rotary members prepare some of the candy during the week previous to the festival and donate it back to the club for sale during the Potato Fest. She remarked that her "newer" version of potato candy has been quite a "hit" during the Potato Fest and generally sells out before noon.

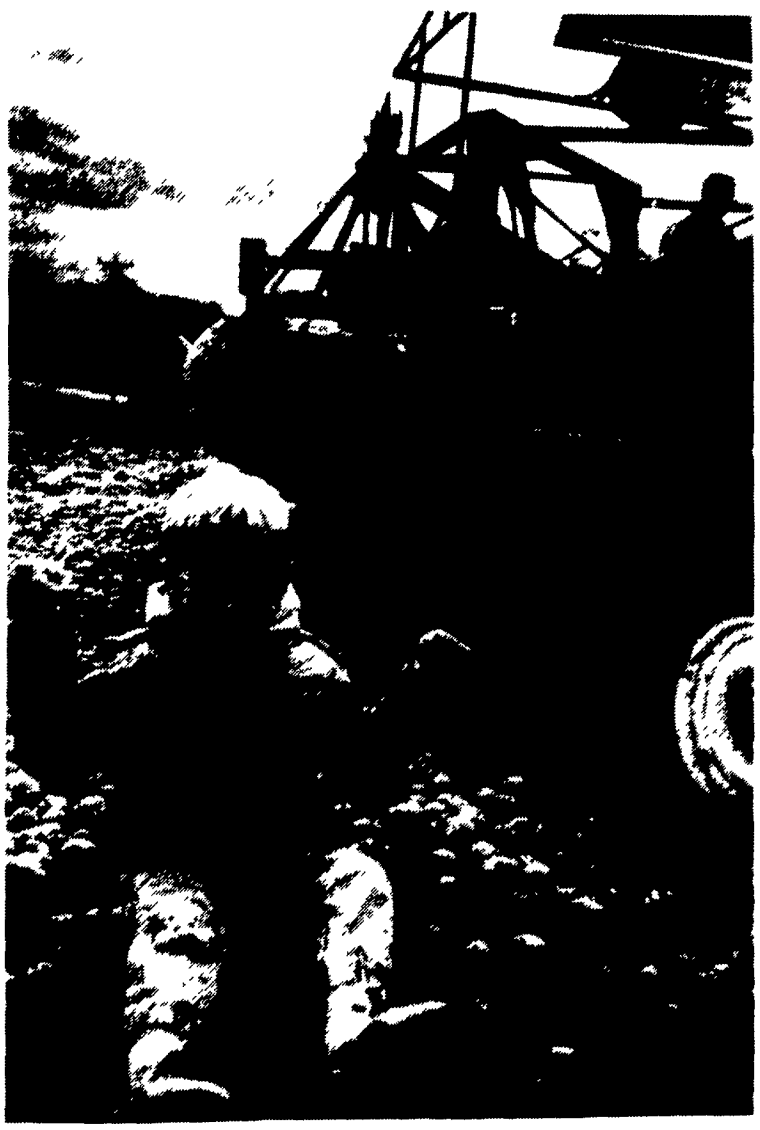
Potato soup is another featured item at the festival and Ebensburg area resident, June Griffith, was gracious enough to share her "tried and true" recipe. She has prepared this particular soup for other activities held in the Ebensburg area and it has received "rave" reviews. According to Tim Houser of the EBDA, "it is absolutely delicious!"

June also shares her version of a recipe for potato bread which is made in a breadmaker. She remarked that this recipe has quite and interesting flavor due to the chopped green onions and tops which are added. It uses potatoes in another form — dried potato buds.

June and her husband Richard N. live at "Bryn Teg Farm" (Welsh, meaning "Pleasant Hill") a few miles outside of Ebensburg. For years they owned and operated a retail farm dairy until the early '70s, and then went in to the potato growing business for a number of years.

June is a "Jack of Trades" having been a home economist for the loca extension office before her children were born, a home economics teacher, substitute teacher, and now a realtor. June is also called upon to judge entries and exhibits at fairs in neighboring counties.

As a home economist, June remarks that potato soup is a very economical and hearty meal. When asked what the secret is to making delicious potato soup, this wife of a former potato farmer answered "begin with good Cambria County potatoes!"



Doug Weakland, 4-year-old son of Rick and Dawn Weakland of RD Portage, holds spuds from his dad's recent potato harvest.

The crew at Rick Weakland farm in RD Portage is busy sorting potatoes before shipping.

MID'S 'MODERN' POTATO CANDY

¾ cup mashed potatoes (homemade or from instant mashed potato puffs)
4 cups flaked coconut
4¾ cups sidted confectioners' sugar
2 cups smooth peanut butter

CHOCOLATE COATING:

Mix 2 tablespoons soft butter, 2 tablespoons corn syrup, and 3 tablespoons water in the top of a double boiler. Stir in one pkg. (15.4 oz.) chocolate fudge flavor frosting mix until smooth. Heat over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Combine ingredients except coating; drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper. Roll in balls, refrigerate ½ to 1 hour. If mix is too soft to form balls, refrigerate first, then shape balls. Dip balls in coating, turning to coat on all sides. Keep chocolate over hot water while dipping candy. With tongs or forks, lift balls out of chocolate on waxed paper or cake rack.

Place candies in refrigerator to harden. (6 doz. candies) "Mid's Homemade Candy" uses Nestle's Pure Milk Chocolate in place of chocolate coating.

September Is National Honey Month

MOUNTVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — September is National Honey Month. Pennsylvania Honey Queen Jona Hoover wants you to know that honey is a natural, unrefined food — safe and wholesome. It has no fat, no sodium, and no cholesterol. A teaspoonful of honey has only 20 calories. It contains trace vitamins and minerals that are vital to nutrition.

Did you know that you can substitute honey for sugar in your favorite recipe if you follow these steps?

- Substitute ⅔ cup honey per cup sugar.
- Reduce amount of liquid by ¼ cup for each cup of honey used.
- Lower baking temperature 25 degrees.
- In baked goods, add ½ teaspoon baking soda for each cup honey used.

Jona offers a sweet collection of honey recipes printed on a brochure. For a copy, send a self-addressed business-sized stamped envelope to Queen Bee & Co., 66 S. Manor St., Mountville, PA 17554. Jona enjoys educating people about honey and bees. To invite Jona to an event, contact her at the same address.

Here are some of her favorite recipes.

HONEY CUSTARD

3 eggs, beaten
¼ teaspoon salt
Nutmeg
¼ cup honey
2 cups milk

Combine eggs, honey, and salt. Scald milk and stir slowly into egg mixture. Pour into custard cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Set cups in pan of hot water. Bake in 325 degree oven for 30 minutes or until knife inserted in mixture comes out clean.

HONEY BUTTER

1 part butter
2 parts honey

Let butter stand at room temperature until softened. Add honey, stir until well blended. Perfect for toast, bagels or muffins. Add cinnamon to taste.

NANNY'S HONEY CARROTS

2 pounds carrots
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup honey

Wash, peel, and cut carrots. Boil to desired tenderness. Drain and add honey and butter. Stir to distribute, serve hot.

MOM'S HONEY MUSTARD SAUCE

1 cup honey
1 cup mustard

Combine honey and mustard. Great with chicken and pork. Excellent for grilling and as a marinade. (Note: use towards end of grilling time so honey does not burn).

ROYAL PALACE BREAD

10 slices white bread, crust removed
1 pound honey

Soak bread in honey for at least 30 minutes. Place in baking dish, piling the slices evenly. Bake in 300 degree oven for 25 minutes. Cool, then chill. Serve with cream or pour over the top. Shredded coconut may be sprinkled over the dessert, if desired.

Pennsylvania Honey Queen Jona Hoover is the daughter of R. Scott and Sandra Hoover of Lancaster. As the Honey Queen, Jona promotes honey and beekeeping throughout the state at fairs, malls, and markets. She is available for speaking engagements.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

As summer draws to a close, we attended one last picnic. This one was a community picnic held at a local church grounds.

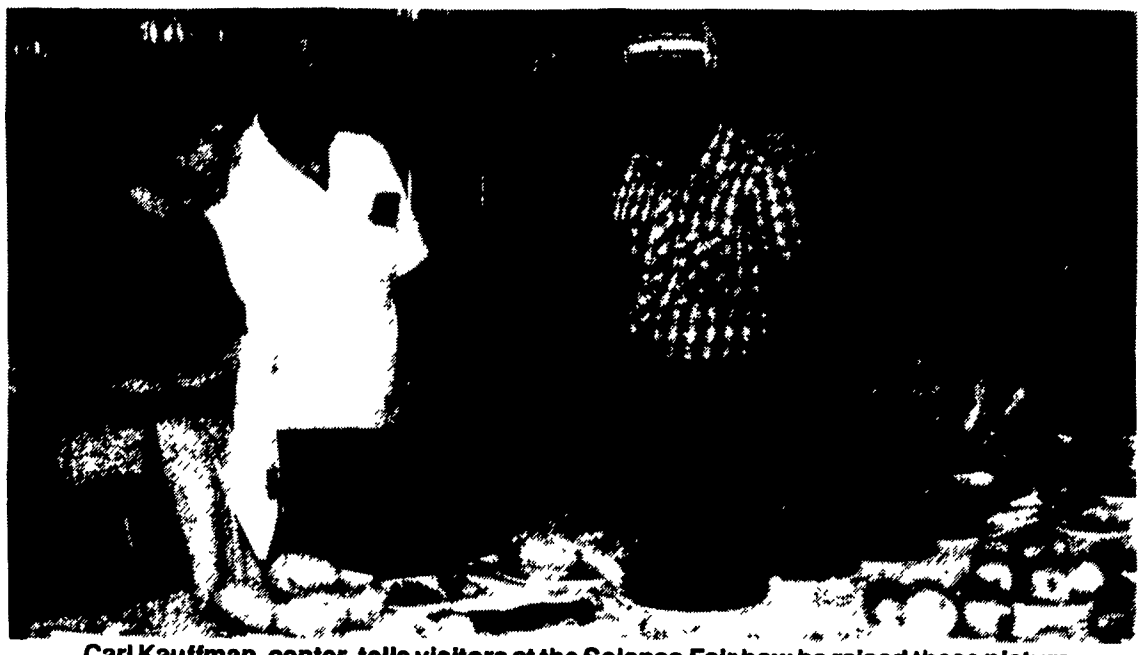
The village of Oregon has banded together to accomplish things for the good of the community. They have a crime watch and are hoping they can remain a small village with a friendly atmosphere.

At one time it was a bustling stop on the Reading to Lancaster road. It had a store, a post office, cigar manufacturing, shoe maker and blacksmith shops, butcher shops and a grist mill. Now it boasts a nice restaurant, some shops, a bed and breakfast and the mill turned into offices. There is always pressure to develop the surrounding area. But the residents hope to keep it a small, quiet village.

As the leaves begin to fall off the trees, we finish some of the last jobs in our gardens. My husband is making supports for his new red raspberries and I'm picking lots of lima beans. This year I planted three kinds and the pole limas, that grow on a permanent fence, are doing fine. We even managed to run out of plastic freezer containers and had to buy some for the sweetcorn.

I've been able to give some of my many tomatoes away. When I went to my Bible Study group last week, I took not only big tomatoes but also a quart and a pint of cherry tomatoes. They are nice-sized and very sweet so they were picked up quickly.

Soon we can remove the air conditioner from the window and I'll put an extra blanket on the bed as the temperature drops into the 40s in the morning. Our two maple trees will shortly have orange and red leaves again.



Carl Kauffman, center, tells visitors at the Solanco Fair how he raised these picture-perfect peppers for competition. Kauffman, a former farmer, said that he didn't water the sweet peppers despite dry weather conditions, but he did use a commercial fertilizer. To enjoy peppers year-round, Kauffman chops the peppers and freezes until ready to use.

Milk Commercials Win Awards

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) introduced "Got Milk?", a new fluid milk advertising campaign in its New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania marketing area on Monday, September 18. The award-winning television and radio commercials will remind consumers over the next 15 months that milk is a staple item they don't want to be caught without. For example, the "Aaron Burr" ad depicts a man eating a peanut butter and jelly sandwich when the telephone rings. He is given a chance to answer a $10,000 trivia question, but because he doesn't have any milk to wash the peanut butter down, the radio DJ cannot understand his correct answer.

The "Aaron Burr" commercial won the international advertising community's Clio Award for best commercial of 1994, as well as Advertising Age magazine's award for best commercial the last two years in a row. Another "Got Mi'k?" ad called "Heaven" also won best commercial award. The commercials rate high among consumers for grabbing their attention and staying in their memory. "This campaign has repositioned milk as a lifestyle item, something you absolutely have to have around," said Bob Garfield, advertising analyst for Advertising Age.

To view the ads and understand the strategy behind them, all Federal Order #2 dairy farmers are encouraged to attend their local district meetings this fall. For information on your meeting, contact ADADC at (315) 472-9143 in New York or (717) 283-2204 in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

1995 Keystone International Livestock Exposition Oct. 4-9

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 39th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 4-9, 1995.

1995 has been designated as "Year of the Beef," so beef exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the beef industry and the high caliber of shows held annually at KILE.

Increased interest and entries have led the show management to expand the horse program to six days, which moves the Appaloosa show to Wednesday and the Quarter Horse show to Sunday. Once again, part of the draft horse-hitch show is a qualifying event in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, and many of the country's top rated hitches will work to earn points for the national event in Ocala, Florida.

Other livestock will also garner international attention. The Limousin Show has been designated as a Limousin Medal of Excellence Show, Level II. One of eight approved regional competitions that qualify exhibitors for the national show.

Sheep competition at KILE features the Great Lakes Regional Rambouillet Show and a Regional Montadale Junior Show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent tests of knowledge and skill, providing students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture.

With the newly-expanded Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex, KILE has been able to spread out through two additional acres of indoor exhibit space. Over 4,400 entries are expected for the 1995 show, which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

Heavy Hitch Classic Set For KILE

On Saturday, October 7th, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The Heavy Hitch Classic will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admission fee of $5.00 per person will be charged at the gate.

New at the 1995 Show will be the 8-Horse hitch classes and we are proud to announce that eleven hitches have been entered. They come from four states plus Canada and represent all four major draft horse breeds. Entrants include Rocking Horse Ranch Resort, Highland, NY; Live Oak Plantation, Ocala, FL; Rovenolt Stables, Turbotville, PA; Terragold Farm, Cannington, Ontario, Canada; Justin's Belgians, Williamsburg, OH; Pennwoods Percherons, Centre Hall, PA; Knapp Tyme Percherons, Finlay, OH; Harry Farr & Family, Dunville, Ontario, Canada; Windermere Farms, Spring Mills, PA; Grandview Clydesdales, Huntingdon, IN; Bartlett Family Clydesdales, Manlius, NY.

In 1995, over 200 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exhibition is again a qualifying show for the 1995 year. Prize money will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The Heavy Hitch Classic will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the large arena on Saturday, October 7.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has been chosen as one of 45 recognized Qualifying Shows on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at Qualifying Shows spread across Canada and the United States. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The stated goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, thereby expanding development of the draft breed industry."

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourage breeders of quality hitch horses.

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show Competition.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator. Over 400 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that over fifteen six-horse hitches will be competitive for the Classic.

Youth Contests Featured

The 18th Annual Keystone Stockmen's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the KILE Show, is scheduled for Monday, October 9, 1995. The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members. These members will also compete as individuals.

Registration begins at 8:00 a.m. and the contest concludes at 4:30 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress and return home the same day.

Prizes are awarded for the winners. The high scoring team wins $100 as well as ribbons. The individual high score wins $75, with prizes going to the top 30 participants. All others will receive participation ribbons. The five highest placing contestants in the overall individual scores are interviewed by a committee of three officials.

Saturday Is Kid's Day

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, October 7, 1995 as a special day for children. Daily attractions continue throughout Kid's Day including a special performance by "Mo Vint, The Harmonica Player."

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all day long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch and hold farm animals such as chicks, ducks, and baby pigs. A famers will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

Three shows will be presented throughout the day featuring the Animals of Distinction. Youngsters will especially enjoy the performances of these special animals.

Lebanon Valley National Bank is sponsoring the "Agri-Kid Olympics" at 12:00 noon. The olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete in such farm-related events as Sack Races, Wheelbarrow Races, Laughing Contest, Horseshoe Pitch, Hog-Calling Contest, and learning how to Auctioneer.

The Kiddie Pedal-Power Tractor Pull is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must pre-register at 1:30 for the event which will be held at 3:00 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants. So be sure to sign up early.

So, why not plan to bring your children to the 1995 Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Shepherd's Lead Line

HARRISBURG, PA—Who looks better, the Sheep or the Shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exhibition Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be held on Saturday, October 7, 1995 precisely at NOON at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in our Lead Line Competition the Leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit (at least 80% wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. Our herdsperson must not only look terrific, but our sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

The Lead Line Competition has been around KILE for years and each year it gets easier for our contestans to find their Wool Garments.

We help point out the virtues of wool. It is a produce that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well deserved comeback.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

Why not plan to enjoy yourself at the 1995 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

1995 Is The Year Of The Beef

1995 has been designated as "Year of the Beef," so beef exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the beef industry and the high caliber of beef shows held annually at KILE.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 39th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 4th-9th.

At the 1995 Show, we are attempting to give people a reason to stay. One of America's top performing acts, "Animals of Distinction," will be performing three shows daily. These world famous animal performe'; are drawing record crowds from coast to coast. They not only entertain but also educate against animal abuse and neglect.

The strolling act, booked primarily for Thursday evening, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, is Mo Vint and he will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on his show. For too many years, the only reason people had to attend the KILE Show was to look at the animals and one quick trip through the barns and they went home. Mo Vint, attired in some interesting costume, will perform harmonica demonstrations and vocals, for young and old, from Peg 'O My Heart to Rubber Ducky and Orange Blossom Special.

Sponsors Assist In Production Of KILE

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 39th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 4-9.

To date, eighty-three major sponsors have committed funds to support the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. A sponsorship program was put together a few years ago to assist in funding the show as well as to promote the show. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies and individuals to get involved.

Glatfelter Insurance Group in York, PA is sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds" show on Friday evening in the large arena. This event will pit nine internationally recognized horse breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Half-Arabian, Percheron, Paint, Quarter Horse, Morgan, Palomino and Pinto against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. A total of seventeen horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition. The "Keystone Sovereign Champion" will then receive $1,000.

QUESTION — Robert Noller, Medford, N.J., writes that some time ago an ad appeared in this paper for plans to build a vegetable stand. He purchased the plans and misplaced them. Anyone able to help him with a name and address?

QUESTION — Henry Stoltzfus, Gordonville, would like to know where to get address stampers with interchangeable letters, new or used, or other printers.

QUESTION — A Lehighton subscriber writes that she is the person who had requested an address for the company of the Merit Quik Chef Fast Grill. Someone sent an address, but when she wrote to it, her letter was returned. Does someone have an up-to-date address?

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, MD, would like to know where he can purchase a toy Farmall 560 1958 NFAN 1456.

QUESTION — Joan Francisco, Stroudsburg, would like to know where to purchase oil of cassia, used in Italian cooking.

QUESTION — Yvonne Lawrence, Newburgh, N.Y., would like to know where to purchase a rhubarb and soda mixture used for indigestion. She used to purchase it in a pharmacy but finds the New York pharmacies don't stock it anymore.

QUESTION — Mrs. William Pierce, Palmyra, would like to know where to purchase antique two-bottom dishes for crock-type chicken water fountains. Must be white with 10-inch top and 8-inch bottom.

ANSWER — Minnie Stauffer, Ephrata, wanted to know how many different peanut butter glasses imprinted with a flower and name are available. Thanks to Kathleen Doll who writes that she has approximately 100 different flowers and 350 different colors in her collection. She knows that she does not have all of them, but she enjoys looking for them and would be glad to help. Contact her at R.2, Box 2213, Glenville, PA 17329 or call (717) 235-7298.

ANSWER — Marie Lorah, Tamaqua, wanted to know where she could purchase some owl glasses? Thanks to Creta Nafe, who writes that she has some to sell. Contact her at R.1, Box 53-H, Glen Rock, PA 17327 or call (717) 235-1104.

ANSWER — Michael Pronio, Hummelstown, wanted a double wheel coffee grinder, the type used at the old general stores. A 26-inch coffee grinder (Woodruff & Edwards Co.) is available at Shartlesville General Store, Box 212, Shartlesville, PA 19554.

ANSWER — L. Hoover, Denver, wanted to know why her gladiolus turned a moldy brown before they opened. Most were newly purchased bulbs. If the bulbs are saved, will they do the same thing next year? Thanks to Minnie Stauffer who writes that she had the same experience with newly purchased bulbs, which spread it to 1,400 bulbs. The county extension agent said that thrips were causing the problem. You cannot see thrips but they work inside the bulb and plant.

Last fall, they mixed Diazinon Insect Spray with water, dipped the bulbs into that, and spread them to dry on the barn floor.

When dry and ready for storage, the bulbs were dusted with bulb dust and put away for the winter.

This summer, after they were eight inches high, the bulbs were sprayed about every 10 days with Diazinon. There were still cases of it, but it was kept under control.

Cambria Fair Names Livestock Champions

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — Awards were presented to the 4-H livestock champions at the Cambria County Fair held in Ebensburg during the first week of September. Chester Davis performed the auctioneering duties for his last time and received a standing ovation.

Patty Feather, youth development officer for the local extension office, termed this a successful sale. There were 181 animals on the auction block, quite a few more than in past years. Feather also noted that there was also a number of new buyers.

The grand champion market steer honor was won by Bobie Jo Balzano of Ashville. Bobie Jo is in her final year of 4-H competition. This is the first time that one of her steers was named the grand champion at the Cambria County Fair.

Bobie Jo is no stranger to livestock competition. She has won numerous awards over the years, including one for the grand champion market hog at the 1995 Pennsylvania State Farm Show. She again intends to show hogs in 4-H

(Turn to Page C3)

Ashville's Bobie Jo Balzano sold her grand champion market steer to Dave Elliott, representative for Hoss's Restaurant, for $3 per pound. The champion steer weighed in at 1,330 pounds.

This grand champion hog, owned by Scott Strittmatter of Ebensburg, was purchased by Steve Holland of Holland Brothers Meats for $3.20 per pound.

Conditions Right For Stalk Rot

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Extreme drought stress in the Northeast and heavy disease and insect pressure in the Midwest could lead to widespread stalk quality problems in these regions, said Mark Mattingly, Northrup King Co. agronomist for the Northeast.

According to Mattingly, stalk rot is one of the most prevalent diseases in corn. Experts estimate annual losses from the disease at 5 percent. This year, factors such as extensive European corn borer infestations could drive those losses even higher.

Mattingly explains that corn borers affect stalk quality in two ways. Insect entry points leave the stalk vulnerable to secondary infections. And in extreme cases, extensive corn borer tunneling can cause stalks to break or lodge.

competition, for the last time, at the State Farm Show in January.

In the swine division, earning ribbons was a family affair. The award for the grand champion market hog went to Scott Strittmatter of Ebensburg. His older sister Jessica, also the fair queen, was the owner of the reserve grand champion.

Andy Myers, an 11-year-old 4-H'er from the Rager's Corner area of the county, took the grand champion honors for capons. His capon weighed 11.25 pounds and was purchased by Dennis and Francis Horne, Nationwide Insurance Company, Cresson, for $35 per pound. Andy also received an award for his steer which took reserve champion honors in its weight class.

Two sisters, Amanda and Jessica Wilson, also of Rager's Corner, took the top awards in the "county bred" category for steers. Amanda's steer was the grand champion and had been purchased from Don Bloom of Rager's Corner. Jessica garnered reserve honors with her steer, which had been purchased from Don Mayer of Vinco.

The following competitors have received awards during the fair:

Amanda Wilson, Rager's Corner 4-H-er, garnered top honor in the county bred market steer category.

MEAT INDUSTRY ON OVERPRODUCTION COLLISION COURSE

H. Louis Moore
Professor Of Agricultural Economics

The alarmists continue to tell us that we are rapidly approaching the time when farmers will not be able to feed a growing U.S. and world population. They point out that 1) farm numbers are declining; 2) farm acreage is being diverted to parking lots, shopping centers, and housing; 3) natural disasters are coming more frequently; and 4) population is outstripping food production capacity.

The truth is that our future food supply is NOT AT RISK. It is likely that production gains seen in recent decades will continue into the future.

The meat industry is an example of unbelievable production gains in recent years. Total U.S. meat production in 1980 was 24 million metric tons. Some thought we were at the peak then. Meat production in 1995 will total 33.5 million metric tons, a gain of 39 percent in 15 years.

There was an increase in production of all species except lamb and mutton. Poultry lead the parade with an increase in production of 114 percent in the 15-year period. Per capita U.S. meat consumption hit a new record high in 1994 at 212.2 pounds. Meat production is increasing so rapidly that a new record will be set in 1995 and 1996. It appears that per capita meat consumption in 1996 will be 218.2 pounds, up 6 pounds from 1995 and a near record one-year increase.

Unlike in the past, production of all three major meats is increasing. Beef production increased nearly 6 percent in 1994, will probably increase 2 percent in 1995, and will set a new record in 1996 surpassing 1976's 25.7 billion pounds. Pork production has increased sharply in recent years and will continue in 1995 and 1996. Broiler production has been increasing at a much faster pace than the red meats. Output was up 7.5 percent in 1994, will rise about 7 percent in 1995, and all prospects point to similar growth in 1996.

The competitiveness of broilers with the other meats will encounter one of the most severe tests in many years in the 1996-1997 period if beef, pork, broiler and turkey output all expand at the expected level. Lower animal and bird prices and higher feed prices during this period will put severe stress on producers. Population has been growing at only 1 percent per year, while broiler production, for example, has been increasing at about 6 percent per year.

This production increase cannot all move into domestic consumption. Consumers will increase consumption to the 218 pound level per capita only at lower retail prices.

Export markets have opened rapidly in recent years diverting much of our excess meat from domestic markets. Exports of broilers, for example, increased 32 percent in 1993, and 45 percent in 1994. Exports will probably exceed expectations in 1995 and 1996, too. Attractive prices have drawn many foreign buyers to purchase dark meat (legs). Russia has been a big buyer of dark meat.

Prices have advanced from about 18 cents per pound to 38 cents since Russia became a big buyer of the meat which is not preferred in the U.S. Broiler feet (chicken paws) were previously sent to renderers for about 8 cents per pound but the Chinese who love them are buying heavily. As a result, feet now sell for 30 to 32 cents per pound.

Russia and the other countries of the former Soviet Union cannot produce their meat needs. It is estimated that 43 percent of the chicken consumed in Russia is imported from the West. The U.S. supplies about 80 percent of the total. We will export about 11 percent of our broiler production in 1995 compared to about 5 percent in 1980.

All poultry trade in the USA is measured in exports. WE DO NOT IMPORT POULTRY.

Poultry, therefore, is a great contributor to our balance of payment surplus in agriculture.

Beef exports have risen sharply in recent years, too. In 1995 about 7 percent of our beef production will be exported compared to less than 1 percent in 1980. The problem is that we import more beef than we export. Imports in 1995 will be the equivalent of 11 percent of our production. Pork exports have grown much slower than beef and broilers. In 1995 we will export about 2.8 percent of production but about 4.1 percent of our pork will be imported.

Despite the growth in beef and pork exports from the U.S., we continue to import more than we export. In the export market the broiler industry has some clear bragging rights — 3.4 billion pounds of broiler exports expected in 1995 with no offsetting imports. Wow!

Exports, however, will not solve all the meat industry overproduction problems coming over the next several years.

BUSINESS ◆ NEWS

Roger Angstadt stands beside the 5500 Tractor prior to the banquet. Also introduced at this program was an all new cab option that will be available on all Augusta tractors above 40 horsepower. Pikeville Equipment, Inc. was one of only 150 dealers in North America to receive a special invitation from John Deere to attend this program.

Pikeville Rep Attends Tractor Intro

OLEY (Berks Co.) — Roger Angstadt of Pikeville Equipment, Inc. was in Augusta, Ga. the week of Sept. 11 to attend a worldwide introduction of a new tractor from John Deere.

The 73-horsepower 5500 Tractor is Deere's newest model. It is another model in a line of John Deere tractors ranging in power from 15 horsepower to 73 horsepower that are built at the Augusta factory.

Bowl Provides Continuous Water

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — A new Zimmerman water bowl provides water automatically and continuously.

Larger in capacity than conventional bowls, the Zimmerman water bowl assures a continuous supply of fresh water. Cows drink from a pool of water. Air intake is reduced, overflow is eliminated, and feed is kept drier.

Made of safe, durable PVC that won't support bacterial growth and resists buildup of mineral deposits, the bowl fills from the bottom, is easy to clean and will last for years. Supported by heavy duty steel mounting brackets and clamps, the bowl is guaranteed unbreakable when properly installed.

Two designs are available, the WB95P (with fill valve) for adaptation to existing systems and the WB95G gravity fill for new installations.

Pull-Type Applicators Provide Flexibility

GOODFIELD, Ill. — DMI Inc. has added two new models to its nutri-plac'r® line of fertilizer applicators.

The nutri-plac'r 4300 replaces the nutri-plac'r 4250 while taking a step forward in precision application flexibility. The nutri-plac'r 3300 offers farmers the convenience and control of owning their own applicator while providing dealers an economical rental applicator.

Model 3300 offers the flexibility of accurate pull-type NH3 application, preplant or sidedressed, into multiple row spacing of up to 13 rows. It is available in working widths of 22.5 feet, 27.5 feet, and 32.5 feet adaptable to 30 inch, 36 inch, and 38 inch rows in sidedressing or indexing, and fully adjustable single or walking tandem main frame wheels.

DMI Inc. has added two new models to its nutri-plac'r® line of fertilizer applicators.

Model 4300 allows more flexibility for a variety of applications such as pre-plant or side-dress and precision dual placement of liquid and NH3 through the use of an optional 500-gallon liquid tank. The 4300 comes in 27.5 feet, 32.5 feet, and 37.5 feet widths with a 15 foot main fraime. Units can be equipped with single wheels for side-dressing 30 inch rows or walking tandems for a smoother ride in rough fields.

Farm Credit Directors Tour Lancaster County

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The group included a lemon farmer and a Texas cattleman. All 176 of the visitors, representing 40 states, toured the Amish countryside and visited Lancaster agribusiness to learn about the importance of farming to the area recently.

The 176 directors of Farm Credit banks and districts are "very impressed with the Amish life, the amount of agricultural production per acre, and the area's work ethic," said Tom Welsh, director of ag marketing for AgFirst Farm Credit Bank, Columbia, S.C.

In cooperation with Keystone Farm Credit, which hosted the event, AgFirst invited the various directors to Lancaster as part of a two-day seminar on "New Expectations and Realities" at the Hershey Convention Center.

Welsh said the directors, policy leaders for their agricultural districts, were impressed with the neatness and overall care of the land that farmers exhibit. As part of the tour, the directors visited Amish farms in the southeast part of the county, ate at a local smorgasbord, visited the New Holland plant, and toured the 1,000-cow operation at Kreider Farms in Manheim. At Kreider Farms, directors observed a double-4 parlor and watched as corn silage was packed.

Company Receives Patent Claims For Corn

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation said that it has received a notice of allowance from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office for claims to transformed corn expressing a corn storage protein.

Expression of this protein acts to elevate the level of amino acids stored in the kernel. Corn is the mainstay of livestock diets, and with higher levels of essential amino acids, corn would be a more nutritious feed grain and require fewer feed supplements.

"To the best of our knowledge, this is the first time that the Patent Office has allowed claims to fertile corn plants into which a preselcted gene has been inserted using genetic engineering techniques," said Bruce P. Bickner, Dekalb's chairman and chief executive officer. "This is an important milestone for Dekalb, which was the first in the industry to establish a biotechnology program in 1975, and the first to transform corn in 1990.

"Enhancing the nutritional quality of grain is a key focus of our biotechnology research," Bickner said. "We anticipate that corn hybrids offering improved feed value for swine and poultry will be on the market by the end of this century. Since almost one-half of domestic corn consumption is used for swine and poultry feed, we believe there is a substantial market for corn with improved nutritional composition."

Dekalb is using the seed storage protein to elevate levels of methionine, an important ingredient in broiler and layer diets. The company also holds an exclusive license to a patent covering a method of increasing the levels of lysine in plants as well as an exclusive license to a patent covering plants, seeds, and cell cultures with elevated levels of tryptophan. Lysine is a key ingredient in both swine and poultry diets, while tryptophan is an essential amino acid in swine feed.

THINK CONCRETE!!

When planning your storage for high-moisture shelled corn. The light-colored concrete walls protect your valuable grain from the heat like we experienced this summer.

Listen to what these farmers from Virginia say about their switch to a poured concrete silo for their corn storage:

"Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated.

We have the best Hi-Moisture shelled corn ever."
Signed: Keith Wilson, Paul Wilson, Gerald Garber; Cave View Farms, Inc., Weyers Cave Va.

"The more you know about silos, the better we look."

LAPP'S BARN EQUIPMENT
CURTAIN SYSTEMS

Lapp's Curtain System
Lapp's insulated curtains can help you make your farm more efficient. You can save up to 30% on your fuel/energy costs while maintaining a comfortable climate enables livestock to feed into live weight more efficiently, the curtain makes your barn warmer in winter and cooler in summer.
Our curtains are available in both 4 and 6 ply, both of which are faced with a impervious white vinyl layer which faces the elements. With all these benefits, the average payback is two years!
A lower cost alternative to the insulated curtains, are Lapp's single layer curtains. You still get all the benefits of using a high quality curtain to keep the elements outside and being able to lower the curtain to naturally ventilate in your barn.

Frozen silage? No problem!

For frozen silage and hard-packed haylage, the Patz cutter-and-claw gathering chain outperforms augers. This time-proven chain with its chain-saw cutting action cuts out frozen silage aggressively. Shouldn't your next unloader have a gathering chain?

Consider these Model RD-820 Unloader features:

RING-DRIVE: With the roller-chain ring drive, only one motor powers the machine.
AUTOMATIC LOWERING OPTION: A winch lowers the RD-820 automatically after each complete revolution.
POWER CUTTER: Spring tension keeps high-speed, self-sharpening blades tight to the silo wall to shave it clean.
TORQUE LIMITER: Ratchet-pin design protects the ring and drive system while working through conditions.
Affordable financing directly from Patz.

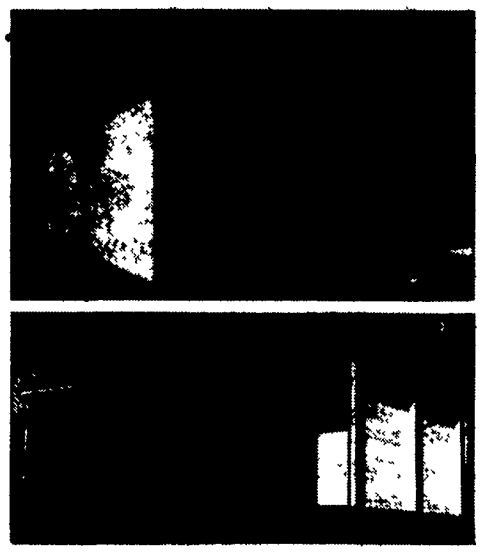
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel



When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17 550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

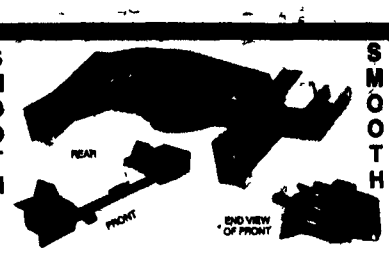
KELDERMAN AIR RIDE

SMOOTH



SMOOTH

Adding a Kelderman Air Ride Conversion system to your present suspension will result in a two stage suspension system, This is not to be confused with adding an Air bag mounted above the axle. Allows adding extra spring leafs to increase load rating and still maintain Air-Ride comfort.

The bolt on basic package utilizes an air stem mounted in a convenient location to add or remove air from the system

Optional 12 volt compressor allows changing air pressure setting on the go.

Currently available for front and rear suspension in Dodge Series 250 & 350 trucks Available soon for Dodge Dakota models.

Also available for some Ford, Chevy and GMC truck models. Special orders available for most motor homes. This option will smooth out the ride on those rough-road fishing/campin, trips.

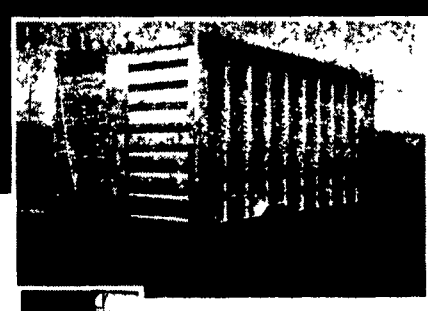
Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

GEORGETOWN, Del. — More than 600 poultry industry leaders from across the country and around the world are expected to attend the Oct. 18 - 20 National Meeting on Poultry Health and Processing in Ocean City, Md.

This highly respected meeting is sponsored by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI), the trade association working for the continued progress of the Delmarva Peninsula's more than $1.4 billion-a-year poultry industry.

"Improving the Qaulity of America's Poultry" is the theme, according to Dr. Mark A. Dekich, meeting chairman. "While our industry already produces the highest quality poultry in the world, there are opportunities to make it even better.

"Speakers from 13 states were selected by DPI's Poultry Health Committee and Processing Committee and will share information that will allow us to accomplish that goal," Dekich said.

In the two-day growout session, topics are:

- Why Control Devastating Diseases - A Lifetime Experience
- Economics of Disease
- Mexican Avian Influenza Update
- Avian Influenza in the United States - Where Are We Now and Why?
- USDA Plans for Emergency Diseases
- The Biology of Avian Mycoplasma
- Poultry Industry Micoplasma Case Studies
- The Argument for Eradication of Mycoplasm

- Dietary Interactions and Coccidiosis
- Nutritional Control of Immune-induced Depression of Food Intake and Growth
- Bronchitis Diagnostic Technology

- ILT Research
- ILT - U.S. Experiences.

The one-day processing session on Thursday, Oct. 19, has topics designed to help processing plant managers and quality control personnel deliver higher quality products while improving their efficiencies. Topics are:

- USDA Poultry Microbiology Baseline Study
- Reducing Bacteria From Farm Through Processing
- Working With a Multicultural Team
- Water Reduction in Processing Plants
- Waste Recycling
- New Eviscerating Systems.

The combined session on Thursday, Oct. 19, is devoted to food safety topics, including presentations by Dr. Stanley I. Savage, University of Georgia, and Dr. S.F. Bilgili, Auburn University, on ways to deliver better broiler chickens to the processing plants. Dr. Richard H. McCapes will discuss on-the-farm good management practices related to food safety. All segments of the poultry industry should find the combined session of interest and importance.

For more information about the 30th National Meeting on Poultry Health and Processing, contact DPI at R.D. 6, Box 47, Georgetown, DE 19947-9622, (302) 856-9037.

Don't Attempt To Renovate Parched Lawn

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Record high temperatures in July followed by a prolonged drought lasting into September have resulted in parched and burned-out lawns over much of Pennsylvania and the rest of the Northeast.

Unless soil-soaking rains provide relief soon, homeowners should forego the usual fall lawn renovation practices, which could further damage drought-stricken turf, according to a Penn State turfgrass scientist.

"With no significant rain for more than a month, coupled with low humidity, many of Pennsylvania's 3.3 million lawns are under severe drought stress, and some have begun to die," said Dr. Peter Landschoot, associate professor of turfgrass science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Ordinarily, lawn repair or renovation such as aeration and dethatching should be done in early September when temperatures are cooler and rains are more frequent," Landschoot said. "This summer, however, renovation should be postponed until later in the season or perhaps until next spring unless the lawn has been adequately irrigated."

Aeration and dethatching will severely damage drought-stressed turf. Fertilization and weed control practices also can be damaging and should be delayed until turf begins to recover. "The best thing to do at the moment is nothing," Landschoot said. "Simply leave the lawn alone until it begins to recover."

If the Northeast experiences steady, soil-drenching rains within the next few weeks, most turfgrass will recover. "However, lawns that were in weak condition at the beginning of summer or that have received heavy traffic over the past few weeks may not grow back and will have to be reseeded," Landschoot said.

If significant rainfall does return to the state by mid- to late September, homeowners can overseed bare places in their lawns. "In most areas of Pennsylvania, seeding after October with Kentucky bluegrass may not yield satisfactory results," said Landschoot. "If you plan to seed in early October, use perennial ryegrass, which germinates and establishes much more quickly than Kentucky bluegrass."

For more information on reseeding your lawn, request the free fact sheet, "Turfgrass Establishment," from the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

One hundred and ninety-seven animals were exhibited by 4-H dairy club members from nine southeast Pennsylvania counties including Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton and Schuylkill counties.

Among the animals exhibited were 76 Holsteins, 22 Ayrshires, 19 Brown Swiss, five Linebacks, 23 Guernseys, 48 Jerseys, and four Milking Shorthorns. During the course of the show, exhibitors who did an outstanding job of fitting and showing their animals were given master fitter and/or master showman awards.

The blue ribbon animals from each class became eligible to compete in the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, which will be held Monday, September 25 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. At the state show, southeast district winners will compete against winners from other 4-H and FFA District shows.

Approved For Preservation

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced the approval of easement purchases for four farms encompassing 631 acres of prime farmland.

"The state's farmland protection program is designed to keep family farms in production," said Brosius, who chairs the State Agricultural Land Preservation Board. The board scheduled its meeting to coincide with Ag Progress Days.

The Farmland Protection Program was initiated in 1989 with a $100 million bond issue approved by Pennsylvania voters. The program allows the state and counties to purchase development rights, referred to as easements, to guarantee that farms will remain as agricultural land.

With the easement purchases, 556 farms in 31 counties will have joined the program or had easements approved, protecting 69,463 acres of farmland. Since January 1, easement purchases have been approved for 8,722 acres on 72 farms in 24 counties.

The following is a county-by-county listing of those properties approved, including owner, township, acreage and purchase cost.

- Blair — Robert S. and John C. Black, Tyrone Township, 151 acres, $90,505.
- Lancaster — David G. and Carol A. Byers Farm #1, East Drumore Township, 97 acres, $193,800.
- Lebanon — Allen R., Jr. and Carol Ann Nolt, North Cornwall Township, 125 acres, $250,000.
- Susquehanna — Dewey and Patricia Hunsinger, Dimock Township, 258 acres, $154,746.

Congressmen Back Farmland Protection

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Thirty-two congressmen have signed a letter urging the House Committee on Agriculture to make state and local farmland protection programs a priority in the 1995 Farm Bill.

The congressmen are from Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Vermont.

In the letter, the congressmen say the loss of land threatens the economic productivity, scenic open space, watersheds and wildlife, and tax savings provided by farmland.

"The nation is losing over 1 million acres of productive farmland each year to urban development, a loss of topsoil roughly equivalent to that being saved by federal erosion control efforts," stated the congressmen. "A national problem of this magnitude deserves national attention. Farmers who have been turned away from state and local programs because of a lack of resources deserve federal support to help them meet their goals."

Edward Thompson Jr., director of public policy for American Farmland Trust, applauded the congressmen for recognizing the need to step up federal support of state and local farmland protection programs. AFT, a national farmland conservation group, today issued a report calling for greater federal assistance.

"It's time the federal government shifts its conservation priorities somewhat," said Thompson. "Although we are paving over as much soil as we conserve, we are spending 200 times less on farmland protection than soil conservation. A shift of less than 5 percent of erosion control funds into USDA's Farm for the Future program would double the states' capacity to protect soil from urban sprawl."

Thompson said other congressional representatives and virtually all U.S. senators remain uncommitted. "Most haven't heard from their constituents," he said. "Yet, stronger local and state farmland protection programs are clearly something that would benefit their districts or states.

"This is not too much to ask," Thompson said, "to protect a resource as critical as the farmland around our cities, where most of the nation's fruits and vegetables are grown and where open space, wildlife habitat and watersheds should remain undeveloped."

Thirty-two congressmen from Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Vermont have signed a letter urging the House Committee on Agriculture to make state and local farmland protection programs a priority in the farm bill. Others remain uncommitted.

Lamb 'Walks' To Supreme Ewe Championship At Reading

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — When choosing a champion ewe, some judges count on how "they walk out," said David Lytle.

Lytle, sheep show judge at the Reading Fair on Monday, liked the way a Corriedale ewe lamb appeared in the show ring, especially how it walked.

The ewe, named "Primrose," was exhibited by Kelly Glaser, 14, daughter of Karen and Robert Glaser, Limekiln. Kelly, in the 10th grade at Exeter High School, said the ewe was named in honor of the ewe's mother, Rosie.

Kelly said she received a lot of help from her grandmother, Ruth Hartman, Limekiln, in selecting a champion ewe. This was Kelly's first supreme champion at the Reading Fair

This year, the Reading Fair was held at the Kutztown Fairgrounds while a new 4-H and fair exhibition center is constructed near the extension headquarters.

Bruce Snyder, 20, son of Forrest and Lorraine Snyder, Kutztown, showed his Dorset fall ram to champion ram at the fair. This is the 6th supreme champion ram Bruce has shown at the fair.

The Snyders are also showing at the Bloomsburg Fair early this week. In addition, they plan to show at the state Farm Show.

Lytle, show judge, raises Hampshires at his farm in New London.

In all, there were a total of 24 exhibitors and 125 sheep at the Reading Fair. Following is a list of show placings.

Cost-Share Cap Raised

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Secretary Lewis R. Riley announced that the cost-share funding cap for animal waste storage systems has been raised from $35,000 to $50,000 per project under the Maryland Agricultural Water Quality Cost-Share Program (MACS).

A maximum of $65,000 in assistance is now available per farm when animal waste storage systems are combined with other best management practices (BMPs) aimed at protecting water quality in the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

"The new funding caps are designed to help farmers offset the tremendous costs associated with building an animal waste containment structure," said Riley.

"These structures are one of the most important tools available to farmers for managing nutrient runoff from large livestock operations. We're pleased to be in a position to help farmers do their part on behalf of the Bay," he said.

The new funding caps apply to animal waste management systems constructed after August 24, 1995. Containment structures completed before this date are ineligible for the new rates. Applications on file at MDA will be adjusted to reflect the new funding levels.

Earlier this year, the Governor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Financing Alternatives for Maryland's Tributary Strategies proposed raising the cost-share cap for animal waste storage systems. The average cost of installing these systems is $55,000, with some systems priced at more than $90,000.

Because of the expense involved, the Blue Ribbon Panel found that animal waste storage structures, which can range from a concrete-lined lagoon to a roofed or covered structure, were being cost-shared at a level substantially lower than other agricultural best management practices.

Stockdale Champ At Polled Hereford Show

KANSAS CITY, Mo.— Bringing Polled Hereford youth into the spotlight and preparing them as future breed leaders was the goal and the outcome of the 22nd Junior National Polled Hereford Show and Forum held in Louisville, Ky.

Participation was at an all-time high for the breed, with last year's record-setting numbers smashed by the 1995 turnout of 726 head. Polled Herefords were paraded through the ring by 402 juniors representing 32 states. This surpassed last year's all-time record by more than 70 head.

In addition to the cattle show, youth and their families had a wide array of competitive, educational and entertaining activities to fill the days and evenings. Even though the temperatures outside passed the century mark, the cool barn kept spirits and enthusiasm at a peak all week long. Unity among families, unity among state competitors and the uniting of friends from throughout the country were central themes. It was a week to learn, a week to compete, and most of all, a week to enjoy.

"Show For The Roses" was the motto for the July 8-13 show hosted by Polled Hereford breeders in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana. Evaluating the cattle were lead judge Greg McCurry of Sedgwick, Kan., and associate judge Ernie Wallace of Leeton, Mo.

A new feature of this year's event was the separation of the heifers bred and owned by the junior exhibitors and the heifers owned, but not bred, by the exhibitors. Taking the grand championship in the 107-head bred-and-owned competition was K.C. Keffer of Crawfordsville, Ind., with KCK Nicholette 2D. This was a second-generation win for K.C., as Nicholette's dam, KCK Lucky Penny, was selected as K.C.'s 16th Junior National bred-and-owned champion in 1989. Nicholette, who won Division III, is an April 1994 heifer sired by Gerber Acclaim 43A. K.C. is the 15-year-old daughter of John and Terri Keffer and will be a sophomore at North Montgomery High School this fall.

A jubilant Mandy Peak of Mexico, Mo., captured the reserve bred-and-owned heifer title with Division II winner Peak's Jewel 9407. She is a May 1994 heifer sired by Boyd New Style 2A. Mandy, who is a junior at the University of Missouri-Columbia, is originally from Mt. Gilead, Ohio, and her parents are Dwain and Connie Peak.

The show's finale was the selection of JR 2Z Sauly D254 as the Division II and grand champion of the owned heifer show. Curt Stockdale of Dayton, Pa., is the proud owner of this May 1994 heifer sired by Haroldson Raider P183 2Z. Curt, who is 17 years old, is the son of Denny and Jo Stockdale and will be a senior at Dayton High School. The heifer was bred by John E. Rice & Sons Inc., Sheridan, Wyo.

Josh Taylor, Good Hope, Ill., received the reserve champion owned heifer award on RST Miss 105A Reba 10D. The Division IV winner is a February 1994 heifer sired by RF Target 105A and bred by Torrance Polled Herefords, Sciota, Ill. Josh, 20, is a junior at Western Illinois University and is the son of Steve Taylor and Marilyn Walters. There were 460 heifers competing in the owned heifer show.

The cow-calf competition is a superb opportunity for juniors to bring back the results of their heifer projects from earlier years. Of this year's lineup, 25 of the 41 cows had been shown in previous Junior Nationals. The grand champion cow-calf was a returning star from the 1994 show for Craig Reed, Green Ridge, Mo. Last year, Craig won the champion bred-and-owned heifer honors with CSR Reba Too 88C. This year, the 2-year-old DL Victor 85X 7A daughter returned with her March heifer calf by RHF Victor 767 2105 to win the cow-calf championship. The son of Jim and Linda Reed, 19-year-old Craig is attending DeVry Institute in Kansas City, Mo.

K.C. Keffer stood second with her entry in the bred-and-owned cow-calf class and then came back in the overall champion lineup to be selected reserve grand champion cow-calf. Her winning duo included KCK 43A Victra 7C, a 2-year-old Gerber Acclaim 43A daughter, and her May RWD Skipper 32 heifer calf.

Curt Stockdale was another dual winner as the recipient of the grand champion bull award. Only bred-and-owned bulls were eligible to compete, and Curt's CS Exclamation 6D was selected champion from among the 30 entries. Exclamation is a March 1994 son of Gerber Acclaim.

The reserve bull championship went to Pat Huizenga, LeCompton, Kan. His winner was PWH Photon 23C, a September 1994 son of SL Beau Rivals Force 2C. Pat, who is a 21-year-old senior at Kansas State University, is the son of Mary Huizenga.

The youth brought 46 steers to Louisville for evaluation. The judges selected an 1,106-lb. April yearling exhibited by Dustin Koepke, Bristol, S.D., as their grand champion. The steer was sired by III Sinclair 17Z and bred by Hansmeier & Son Inc., also of Bristol, S.D. Dustin is the 11-year-old son of Dylan Koepke and will be a sixth grader this fall.

Lyndse Peterson, Minneapolis, Kan., earned the reserve steer championship on her 1,022-lb. April G&R Raceway 2265 son bred by Bob Johnston, Frankfort, Kan. Lyndse is a 13-year-old eighth grader at Delphos Attendance Center and is the daughter of Sally Peterson.

Following the selection of the live steer champions, the steer carcass champions were announced. Factors included in the scoring formula for carcass champions included ribeye area, fat thickness and marbling, which were all three determined by ultrasound measurements, plus weight. Taking champion carcass steer honors was Mike Maier II of Pittsford, Mich. His Big T Mitchell A20 son bred by Ron Yake, Sturgis, Mich., weighed 1,142 lb., had .28 in. fat, a 13.0 sq. in. ribeye area and low choice quality grade. Mike, who is 12 years old, is the son of Mike and Cheryl Maier and will be in the sixth grade at Pittsford Area School.

The reserve champion carcass steer was a WS Arch Impact 1ET son exhibited by Michael Allbright, Holly Pond, Ala. The steer was bred by Tennessee River Music Inc., Ft. Payne, Ala., weighed 1,180 lb., had .24 in. fat, a 13.5 sq. in. ribeye area and average choice quality grade. Michael is the son of Karen Allbright and the 10-year-old will be in the fifth grade this fall.

Curt Stockdale took home both the premier exhibitor award for the cattle he showed and junior premier breeder award for cattle in the show bred by him. The senior premier breeder award, which is presented to a non-junior member in recognition of winnings of cattle bred by the firm and shown in the Junior National, went to Star Lake Cattle Co., Skiatook, Okla. Junior exhibitors from Illinois placed first in the state group of five class.

Other Bred-and-Owned Heifer Divisional and Class Winners. Division I Champion: Eric Thomas, Richmond, Ky., on ET Donna D45, sired by BT Mohican Dan 544 T. Conservation District Sponsors Tour, Meeting

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The Franklin County Conservation District, along with nutrient management specialist Mark Dubin from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), hosted a Chesapeake Bay Program meeting and farm tour recently.

Directors and staff from the Franklin, York, Adams, and Chester conservation districts attended, in addition to representatitves from the DEP, Bureau of Land and Water Conservation, and USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service. Also, Franklin County commissioners Sam Worley, Doug Niemond, and Cheryl Plummer were present.

Attendees toured two Franklin County Chesapeake Bay Program projects on the Paul Swartz Farm and the Carl Wenger Farm, both in the Pleasant Hall area.

On the Swartz farm, a concrete lined pond was designed to provide six months storage for solid manure. The barnyard was concreted and sloped to direct the storm water to the drop inlet, which also pipes milkhouse waste water to the sump for irrigation. A picket fence arrangement was constructed as a means to separate out the liquids. A sump and irrigation system was then designed to support the picket fence separator.

A manure tank was installed to provide long term storage for manure produced by the Carl Wenger farm and to enable the proper application of these valuable nutrients at the proper time. Designed with two pushoffs, the manure collected from the freestall barn can be easily transferred to the storage unit. Now six months of manure storage is available to the dairy operation without risk of contamination of Lehman Run.

Before heading back to Shoney's Restaurant for lunch and a brief Chesapeake Bay Program Meeting, a final stop was made at the Hamilton Heights Dairy Farm owned and operated by Clifford Hawbaker.

Hawbaker is implementing many unique practices on his dairy farm including flushing systems in the milking parlor and the freestall barns, water sprinkling for cooling cows, cropland irrigation system, and various composting piles. The Hawbaker Farm was the site of the Franklin County's Fall Farm Fun Fest several years ago.

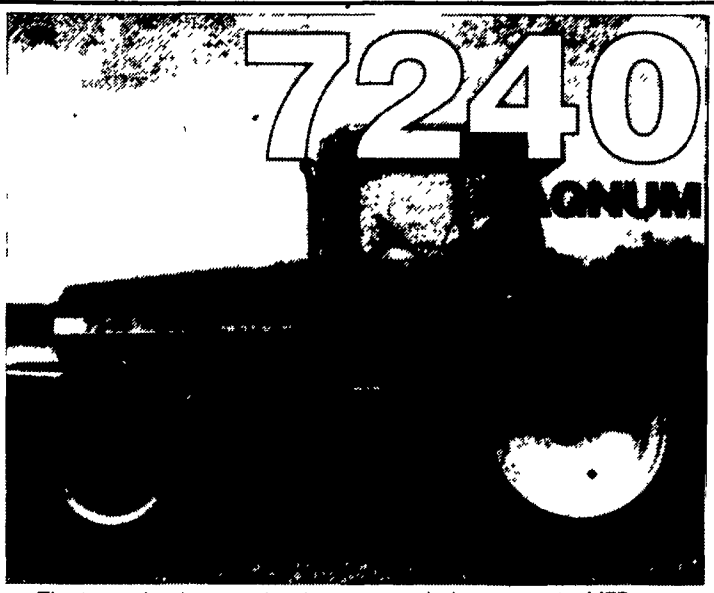
Product Highlights

The MAGNUM™ 7200 Series sets a new industry standard in farm power, technology, customer convenience, quality and value This is the most innovative, customer-oriented and productive series of tractors since the MAGNUM was originally introduced in 1987 The 7240 MAGNUM offers many important features, such as

- 195 PTO horsepower (145 kW) generated by a Case IH turbocharged 505 cubic inch (8 3 L) engine for excellent torque and lugging ability at 2,200 rpm
- Ventilated and sculptured side panels for distinct family styling The panels also provide 40% increased air flow for additional cooling capacity and improved turning radius
- Silent Guardian II cab, with outstanding visibility, standard or deluxe seat option, improved equipment monitor mounting and air conditioning with environmentally safe HFC-134A refrigerant
- Intelligence Center II provides complete information to the operator regarding tractor operation with an automatic shutdown feature to protect your investment and continuously available engine hour meter display
- Precise in-cab remote valve flow control adjustment with 180° rotation



- Electronic hitch control with "Hitch Command" that allows the operator to fine-tune hitch operation to the application, and raise or lower the hitch with a flip of the switch
- 18-speed forward, four-speed reverse, full powershift transmission is standard Operator can shift on-the-go under full power from first through 18th gears Shuttle-shifting from forward to reverse can also be made under load without clutching or reduced shift lever effort when the clutch is depressed This reduces forward/reverse cycle time
- The optional MFD axle can be engaged on-the-go and includes automatic MFD disengagement feature in brake-assisted turns to provide easier turning on the ends of the field
- Optional six-speed powershift creeper transmission is ideal for PTO operations where slow ground speeds are needed
- A four-inch bar axle
- Optional dual fender-mounted hitch controls for easier hook-up and adjustment

REMOVE ROCKS BEFORE FALL SEEDING

Grated Hopper Bottom
We use spring steel straps in the hopper instead of using milder steel. The hopper is engineered to bounce back in shape.
Hydraulic Drive
The most popular drive on rock pickers is hydraulic which is standard on the 6000. We have incorporated a relief valve to take away the shock when disengaging the drive.
Flotation Tires
The 16.5Lx16.1 flotation tires are standard equipment and are a must to reduce soil compaction.
Reel Assembly
We are using the same reel as the proven Super Picker 6800 The three paddel reel has a large diameter, hard surfaced teeth and heavy duty paddles.

Swing Pole
The manual swing pole is easy to maneuver in both working or transport position.
Solid Shaft Grill Tines with Replaceable Grill Tips.
This modern grill is easier to maintain, has longer life giving you less down time. The unique grill provides five feet of clean shifting and virtually jamless performance.

4600 & 5700 Series
The Degelman 4600 & 5700 hydraulic angle Bulldozer Blades attach to both front wheel assist and two wheel drive farm tractors. They incorporate a clean looking, low profile design and are built strong and tough, heavy duty construction to achieve a dozer blade that's ready to tackle demanding farm jobs.
Ease of operation, built-in quality and the convenience of finger tip hydraulic angle control are only a few of the many features you'll appreciate.

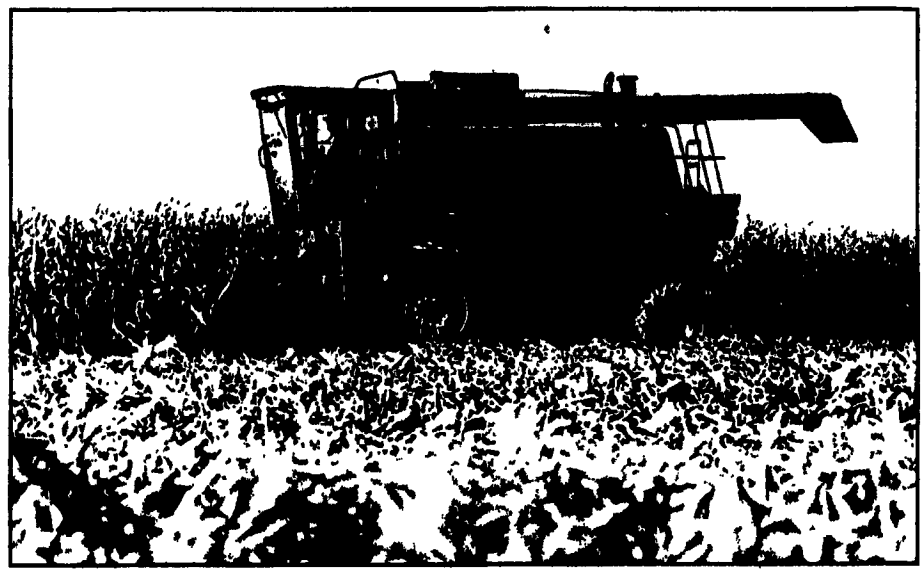
CASE IH Axial Flow Combines - PRODUCTIVITY NEVER THOUGHT POSSIBLE!

The 2100 Series Axial Flow Combines are simply designed to harvest crops in record-settimg time. Who would have ever believed that results like these would ever be possible?



- Harvest 805 Acres of corn and 52 Acres of Soybeans in 100 Hours.

Consider a REAL Open-Top Mixer

REAL mixing with four large counter-rotating augers for fast, thorough blending of feeds. The large, flanged augers are designed specifically to evenly mix all ingredients. The mix is the same at the beginning, middle and end of feeding each batch.

REAL mixing-capacity numbers; You can use more of the Patz Mixer's struck-level capacity for mixing than with a reel-type mixer.

REAL strength with heavy-gauge steel sides and 3/8-inch-thick bottoms for long service life.

REAL primary drive reduction with a planetary gearbox.

REAL hay shelf and notched augers as standard equipment.

REAL Patz financing at affordable rates.

Ask to see the video of the REAL Patz Mixer. Also, we will be glad to do an on-farm demonstration.

The NEW LEADER L3020

Heavy Duty LIME SPREADER

For more than 50 years, New Leader has aggressively met and exceeded market demand by producing the most dependable, adaptable and durable spreaders in the industry. The heavy-duty L-3020 spreader is a direct result of New Leader's unmatched experience in the agricultural equipment field.

Designed for high-volume applications of ag-lime and gypsum, the rugged and resilient L-3020 is also suitable for spreading fertilizer and hauling aggregate material. Equipped with an optional swinging rear endgate, the L-3020 can be quickly and efficiently converted into a controlled discharge, no-hoist dump system for stockpiling. The L-3020's standard 30-inch-wide conveyor system virtually eliminates the material bridging that's common with narrower conveyor spreaders. The versatile L-3020 broadcasts ag-lime at rates up to six tons per acre and fertilizer at rates as low as 150 pounds per acre.

Other Available Features:
- Complete body in 304 or 409 stainless steel
- Mounts on vehicles equipped with highway, semi or full flotation tires
- An optional ladder that attaches to either the left-or right-hand-side of the unit
- Optional heat-and petroleum - resistant conveyor belting available for transport and application of hot asphalt

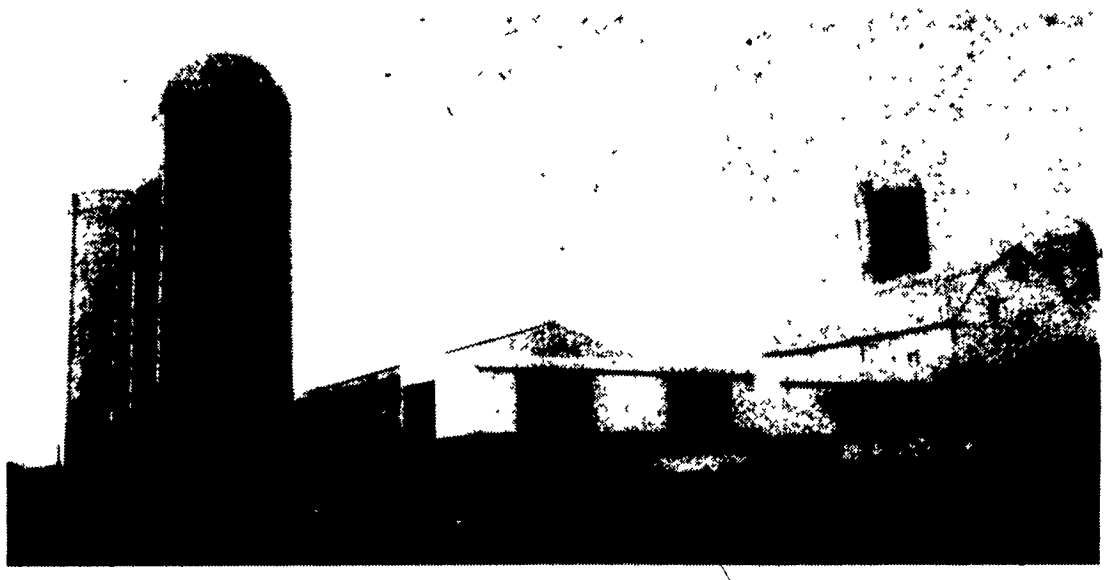
From Commodities To Purina Concentrates



In the fall of 1992, Gerald Smith decided to try Purina's Maxi-Tech Concentrate feeding program. After 15 years of feeding commodities and minerals, he was skeptical about attempting an entirely new feeding philosophy. After 3 years on the Purina program, the Gerald Smith dairy has been very successful and he was willing to share his experiences with the program.

Producer Comments:

"What impresses me most is how our feed price changes very little from month to month. Purina does a good job of adjusting their formulas as market prices change."

"Product quality is excellent. We had always believed that they used 'junk' in pellets but this is definitely not the case."

"Our veterinarian has commented that we have one of the healthiest herds in the area."

"Purina gives superior service - you get more for your money than just feed."

" With Purina there seems to be no gimmicks or frills in their feeding programs, just rations based on sound nutritional research."

Purina Mills and Bedford Farm Bureau thank Gerald Smith for his business and for the opportunity to prove Purina products and programs work.
